relations and fund raising.

Riverboat site would enhance hotel design

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

The possibility of a riverboat gambling site nearby has sweetened the kitty for the builders of a hotel on State Park Road across from the Fox Lake Country Club.

The proposed riverboat site is along the Fox River where it intersects with Rte. 173. It's only four or five miles from the hotel land.

"If that does materialize, it will change our concept completely," said a spokesman for the Fox Lake Development Co., the same group that owns the country club and plans to build the hotel.

The original plan was to build a hotel and conference center geared for business and golf. It called for 100 suites.

A misunderstanding with the village about the cost of water and sewer hook-ups dropped the number of units to 76 with expansion plans for another 76 sometime in the future.

Now — with lower water and sewer costs and the possibility of legal gaming down the road — the plan may call for 137 units "right off the bat," the spokesman said.

New state laws sneak in with the new year

A new year means new laws. 1993 arrives with a "bang," literally, as many of the new laws attack gang crimes, drive-by shootings and DUI offenses.

The following is a breakdown of new laws that will be implemented Jan. 1.

New DUI Laws

- Motorists will have a stronger incentive to avoid drinking and driving, which adds a $500 fine and five days community service for any drunk driver found to be transporting a child younger than age 16.

- Also designed as a DUI deterrent is a new law which will permit courts to grant court supervision only once every 10 years, instead of once in every five years, for DUI offenses.

New Gang Laws

- A new law on gang crime allows school districts and local governments to sue gangs and gang members for damages and expenses resulting from gang activity. Courts could require reimbursement for property damage and/or costs of police, fire and other emergency services.

Other New Laws

- Telephone harassment and disorderly conduct are now included as "hate crimes." This category includes crimes committed against a person because of race, color, religion, ancestry, gender, disability or national origin.

Various New Laws

- Sneak Photography — The new law makes secret videotaping in rest rooms and tanning salons a misdemeanor punishable by a $1,000 fine and one-year jail sentence.

- Radar Detectors — The new law bans radar detectors in commercial trucks. Radar detectors must be in a locked compartment in the vehicle.

- Juvenile Crimes — The new law allows law enforcement officers to inspect juvenile court records of a minor when necessary to compile information regarding gang activity.

- Sex Offenders — The new law requires first-time offenders convicted of felony sexual crimes against minors to register with local law enforcement agencies.

- AIDS Notification — The new law allows a physician to notify the parents or guardian of a minor who tests positive for the HIV virus that causes AIDS, if the physician thinks notification is in the best interest of the child.

- Breast Implants — The new law prevents health insurance policies and health maintenance contracts from denying coverage for removal of breast implants when the procedure is medically necessary. Removal of implants done merely for cosmetic reasons is not covered.

- Child Custody — The new law allows previous statements by a child relating to allegations of abuse or neglect to be admissible as evidence in child custody hearings.

- Recycled Paper — The new law requires school boards, public schools and attendance centers to purchase recycled paper for use in student newspapers when feasible.

- Libraries — The new law makes it easier to prosecute for theft of library materials by lowering the threshold for theft from $200 to $50.

- Mobile Homes — The new law requires a one-year notice to mobile home park tenants of the owner's intent to cease operation. Also requires the Dept. of Public Health to prepare and distribute a pamphlet on tenants' and park operators' rights.

Questions to ask child care providers, and yourself

In choosing a child care provider parents should consider the individual child's personality, maturity and unique needs. Consider what you hope your child will gain from the child care experience—such as emotional development, independence, self-confidence, and intellectual stimulation—in addition to having physical needs met.

The Provider or Caregiver needs more than training and experience. Warmth, understanding, sensitivity, and responsiveness are important characteristics that can determine your child's successful experience.

- Does the caregiver demonstrate common sense?
- Do the children like the caregiver?
- Are their feelings respected?
- Do they feel appreciated?
- Does the provider listen to them?
- Is she honest with them?
- Is her response to specific situations, like temper tantrums or accidents appropriate?
- Are disagreements between children handled well?
- Do unexpected occurrences, such as thunderstorms or service calls become spontaneous learning experiences?
- Do you agree with the caregiver's approach to such daily issues as discipline, praise, hygiene, religion, toilet training, food, etc.?
- Does she attend workshops and meetings or subscribe to journals to enhance her professional skills?
- If there is more than one caregiver, are responsibilities divided to give your child a feeling of continuity?
- How long do staff members usually stay?
- What provisions are made for substitutes if a caregiver is ill?

The place your child is cared for need not be fancy, but it should be clean, safe and inviting.

- Is there enough space for the children to move about?
  - Are there separate areas for different types of play?
  - Is there enough room for comfortable napping?
  - Is there an opportunity for outdoor play?
  - Are there a variety of materials to play with, appropriate for the children's ages and abilities, and stimulating to their creativity?
  - Is there enough child-sized furniture?
  - Are there colorful, interesting materials at child eye-level?
  - Are toys, equipment and furniture in good repair?
  - Are bathrooms, diaper changing and food preparation areas kept clean?
  - Are there cushioned play areas—carpets indoors, grass or wood chips outside?
  - Is the outdoor play area fenced?
  - Are electric outlets covered?
  - Do you see peeling paint or flaking asbestos on pipes or ceilings?
  - Are sharp utensils, cleaning supplies, medications, and any other hazards out of reach or locked away?
- Whether formal or informal, each child care facility has a program of activities. A good program encourages children to explore, experiment, solve problems, use and understand language, and grasp new concepts.
- Are there a variety of activities geared to the ages and needs of the children?
  - Is there a balance between quiet and active activities, with opportunities for a child to make some choices or to just sit quietly?
  - Are there appropriate art, music, reading, math and language activities?
  - Is there time for the children to with each other to converse with the caregiver?

- Is there a routine for meal and snack times, napping, and going outdoors?
- Are the routines flexible enough to accommodate individual children's needs?
- Are meals nutritious and appetizing?
- Are they eaten in a pleasant, friendly atmosphere?

Good child care provides for individual growth. All children learn and develop at their own pace. They need opportunities and encouragement to grow socially, emotionally and intellectually.

Immunizations! Who needs them? Everybody!

The following childhood immunization schedule provides the recommended immunizations for infants and children who are being immunized for the first time. Follow the instructions of your doctor or these recommendations. Keep a copy of each child's immunizations (month, day and year). Have the doctor or clinic record the necessary information. This record will be needed for child care or school entry.

Hey, Mom, What's to eat? Ideas on healthy snacks

What's to eat? How often have you heard your child ask this question? Are you puzzled on what to serve, especially when it comes to snacks? Well, here are some ideas on providing healthy snacks.

Low sugar: Fresh fruits, raw vegetables, cheese and fruit kabobs, fruitsicles, pretzels and hard boiled eggs.

Low calories: Yogurt, dill pickles, cottage cheese with 1 percent milk, raw vegetables, fruitsicles and plain popcorn.

High calories: Granola, half sandwich, peanut butter on celery, apples, graham crackers, cheese and crackers, ice cream with fruit, slice of pizza, cheese and fruit kabobs.

High fiber: Raw vegetables, raw fruits, dried fruits raisins, prunes, dates, apricots, granola, whole wheat breads, dry cereal, yogurt sprinkled with bran, fruit or vegetable kabobs and baked apples with raisins.

High fluids: Fruit juice, vegetable juice, fresh fruit, milkshakes, yogurt, milks, water, syrups, fruitsicles.

After school: Apples, nuts, cheese and crackers, grapes, half sandwich, cereal and milk, bread sticks, bananas and puddings.

Snacks can be included during the day, even if your child is on a special or restricted diet. The main difference between snacks and other foods is the time of day they are eaten. Most children can't eat the amount of food required to meet nutritional needs in three meals. This makes snacks very important. They should complement the meal. Snacks should be a good source of vitamins, minerals and other nutrients for growth.

Remember, snacking has become a way of life for us. So it's important to choose snacks that are right for you and your child. Life-long eating habits develop early. For more information on nutrition and feeding young children, contact the Lake County Health Department's WIC program at 360-6781.

Breakfast, anyone?

Young children need nutritious food to provide the elements necessary for proper growth and development. This is especially true for the young child awakening after 10 to 12 hours of fasting during sleep. Nutritious food is needed to provide the "fuel" for the child's main work, playing, listening, learning, cooperating and socializing. Early morning schedules are busy in most households, but the need to "break the fast" with quality food is essential to meeting the daily minimum nutritional requirements. Numerous studies have been conducted to measure the effects of breakfast vs no breakfast in children. In general, researchers report improvement in student performance and absenteeism when a nutritious breakfast is eaten.

Whether you choose a traditional breakfast, (cereal, egg, fruit juice and toast) or a more adventuresome one, (cheese sandwich and raisins) for your child, the primary focus is the nutritious start the child receives before beginning the day's activities.

Breakfast, everyone!

Nutrition fun for parents, children

Good nutrition education begins in early childhood. Young children can develop positive attitudes toward food, learn to accept a wide variety of foods and come to appreciate the pleasurable experiences eating provides.

Parents have limitless opportunities to have fun with their children while participating in a variety of nutritional learning experiences.

The following are just a few examples of the many nutrition educational activities parents and children can do together:

•Squeeze oranges and drink the juice for a snack. (Rolling the orange on a hard surface first softens the fruit prior to squeezing.)

•Peel bananas, tangerines and grapefruits. Tear and break the fruit into pieces and mix together. Add a scoop of cottage cheese to make a delicious, nutritious salad for lunch.

•Grow a sweet potato in water to show how the plant grows from the stored food in the potato.

•Plant seeds which germinate quickly, such as radishes, mustard greens and turnip greens. Soak the seeds overnight to hasten germination.

•Use ready-made biscuit dough (or make your own) and wrap it around different foods (such as turkey hot dogs) before baking.

•Play a matching game with foods and food pictures match eggs with chickens; green, leafy, vegetables with plants; milk with cows, etc.

Developing a wholesome attitude toward nutritious food and good eating habits will provide your child with a valuable learning experience that will last a lifetime.—by Patricia Goodman, Early Childhood Consultant

Pace begins ADA special services

New Pace ADA Special Services, established in compliance with the Americans With Disabilities Act, will begin in Lake County on Jan. 4.

From Zion to Vernon Hills, and Waukegan to Fox Lake, more than 14 Lake County Communities will have curb-to-curb service operating in areas already covered by Pace fixed-route buses.

The service will be divided into four areas: north Lake County, northeast Lake County, northwest Lake County, and central Lake County. A fifth area, southeast Lake County, is scheduled to begin operation in April. These service areas are, as defined by ADA provisions, within 3/4 of a mile of regular Pace fixed routes. Days and hours of operations will vary according to the fixed-route service in that area.

This service is specifically designed to meet the needs of persons with disabilities under RTA certification guidelines and ADA requirements.

Existing Dial-A-Ride services that include senior citizens and persons with a disability will continue to operate in Lake County communities.

Details of the new Pace

Lake County ADA Special Services, including maps and phone numbers for scheduling a ride, are available in a brochure that can be obtained by calling 364-7223, Ext. 500.

Mechanic parlays love for Harley's into business

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

When Warren Heir finished his stint in the Navy during Vietnam he went to work in a factory and spent his free time hanging out with friends and their Harley Davidson motorcycles.

One day, a friend brought him a flyer on a motorcycle repair school in Chicago. Heir used his GI Bill to pay his tuition to the school where he learned to repair Harley Davidson bikes. He has made that his vocation for the past 17 years.

After 12 years of running a repair shop out of his home, Heir opened Warren's Repair and Service for Harley Davidson's three years ago at 1221 Rollings Road in Round Lake Heights.

"We are considered an independent operation," said Heir. "It's made a difference having the commercial building. We are more visible and there is more room to work."

Warren's Repair and Service for Harley Davidson's does repair and customizing work on the classic bikes. The shop also sells components, parts and accessories as

'Harley's are what I know. I don't want to work on other bikes. Harley riders are dedicated to their bikes and take care of them. Harley's never die, we just keep rebuilding them.'

—Warren Heir

well as clothing and other items.

"All of our merchandise comes from after market-buys from an authorized dealer," Heir said. "We work exclusively on Harley Davidsons."

Heir spends the winter months completing customizing work for Harley owners and rebuilding bikes.

"Harley's are what I know," said Heir. "I don't want to work on other bikes. Harley riders are dedicated to their bikes and take care of them. Harley's never die, we just keep rebuilding them."

Over his years in the repair business, Heir has seen the Harley rider and his image change. "A lot has changed about Harley owners," said Heir. "The people buying them are not run-of-the-mill, tough guys. Many of them are professional people who want to be weekend warriors. It's more of a sport than an image."

Many of the customers at Warren's are customized bike riders who create showbikes to take on tour.

"I'm working on one right now that has an eagle welded into the handlebars," said Heir. "It'll be all gold-plated chrome. For many of my customers, Harley Davidson is a way of life not just a bike."

Warren's is a family-run business. Working alongside him are his wife, Linda Heir and brother, Wayne Heir and two golden retrievers, Harley the second and Ginger.

"We spend most of the winter months doing specialty work," said Heir, who also does custom paint jobs on the machines. "I taught myself how to do that a couple of winter's back."

Warren's carries a wide selection of coats, boots, saddle bags, t-shirts, hats, chrome accessories and even neckties with the Harley Davidson logo.

"My goal as business owner is to make the customer happy," said Heir. "I have a reputation to maintain. I'm trying to make Harley Davidson riding a better sport."

Stock market trends after an election, cash in on Clinton

by FRED HOFFMAN

Consumer confidence will increase in the next few months following nearly a year of doom and defamation during the political contest for President of the United States.

Statistics historically support a consumer confidence gain of 0.7 percent between October and February when an incumbent loses compared with a 2.7 percent loss when an incumbent wins. But by the time next October comes around, historically we can expect a five percent loss in consumer confidence compared with the same time twelve months previous.

Had President Bush won, historically we could have expected an eight percent decrease in consumer confidence.

For the short term this should make Wal-Mart, Toys-R-Us, Clothtime and Charming Shoppes attractive stocks to purchase. There is confidence that Clinton will immediately promote plans that by mid-year will mean more jobs, the re-start of infrastructure projects delayed by lack of money and there will be staffing for new training programs.

In his campaign Clinton suggested $220 billion in new spending over four years. This includes $134 billion on infrastructure and $63 billion on training. There also will be $23 billion on middle class tax relief. This will be paid for with a $140 billion cut in government costs, $92 billion more in higher taxes on "the rich", $58 billion in higher corporate taxes, especially on foreign companies, and $4 billion in entitlement reform.

The most obvious and enduring stocks are those related to the infrastructure such as Caterpillar and Ingersoll Rand. Another good play is Ingersoll Rand which has 15 percent of its revenues in highway equipment.

Heavier spending on infrastructure also would be good for New Jersey Steel and Birmingham Steel, makers of rebars for reinforcing concrete. Other industrial companies that could benefit from a general pickup are Allied-Signal and General Electric plus General Motors Corporation which is moving to restructure itself.

Education stocks will also benefit from Clintonomics. One winner would be Paramount which has companies that publish text books and other books. The Allen Group, an auto emissions business, and Waste Management should benefit from the Clinton emphasis on environment. A boost in consumer confidence should also help building stocks such as Owens-Corning and PPG.

Managed healthcare stocks such as PacificCare will benefit from a Clinton victory. This brings us to the other part of the Clinton economic program, tighter regulations for business and a restructuring of how some of it works such as healthcare.

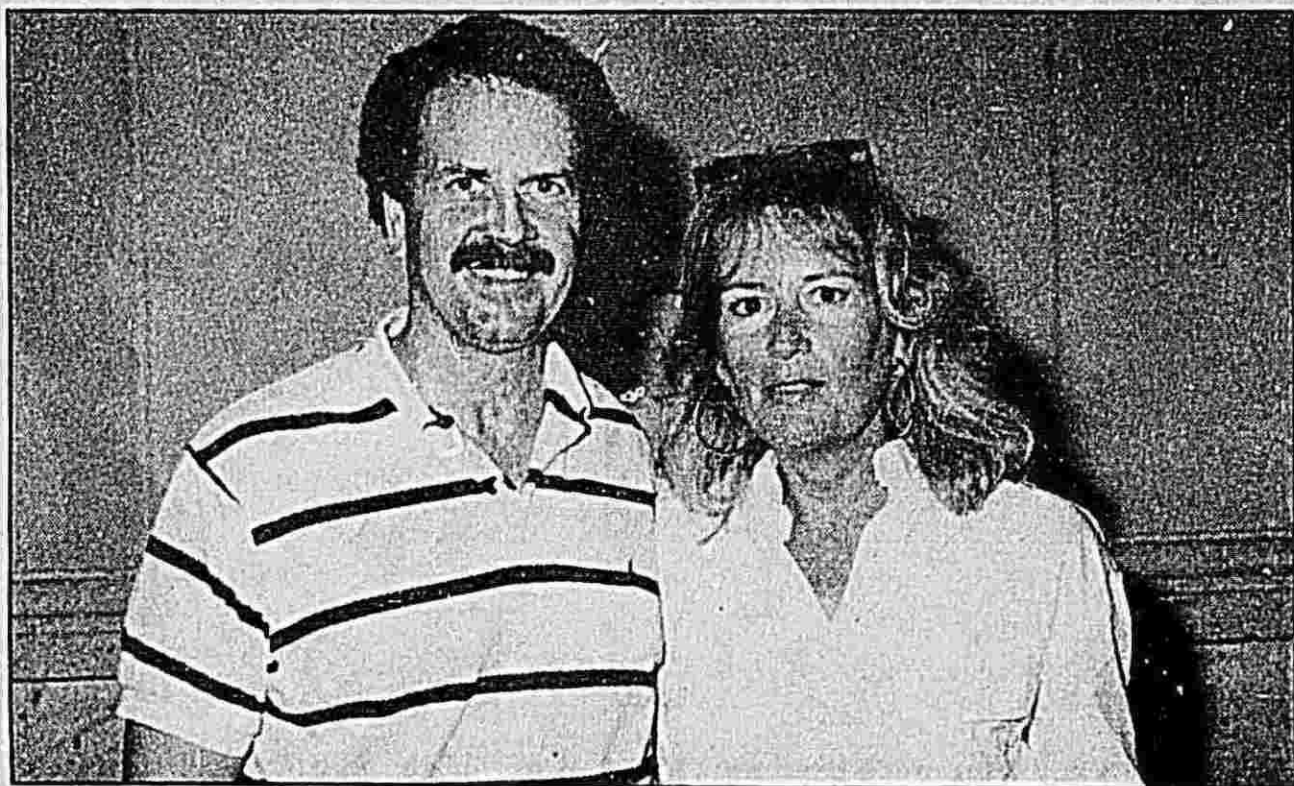

Do not expect any near term major regulation as the subjects are complicated and in some cases such as medical care a gargantuan undertaking to initiate without in-depth study. He also will find substantial opposition to many of his regulation programs.

To maintain business confidence, Clinton has to prevent a substantial increase in interest rates. He needs to avoid conflict with the Federal Reserve Bank. His economic and business appointments will be closely watched.

Finally, investors will be scrutinizing the budget of President Clinton which will be proposed in February. He should call for an investment tax credit and commit the United States within a few years to a realistic budget deficit program.

I expect the higher consumer confidence will boost real growth 2.2 percent in the first half of 1993 and 3.8 percent in the second half to produce an 11 percent increase in the profits of the companies in the Standard & Poor's 500 list. This could mean a Dow Jones Industrial Average in 1993 of 3600 to 3750.

Cops probe cash theft at restaurant

GURNEE—Gurnee Police are investigating a theft at Avalon restaurant Christmas Eve. More than $1,000 was stolen from the restaurant, according to Hank Schwarz, Gurnee deputy police chief. The restaurant, was closed at the time of the robbery.

Riverboat site would enhance hotel design

FOX LAKE — The possibility of a riverboat gambling site nearby has sweetened the kitty for the builders of a hotel on State Park Road across from the Fox Lake Country Club. The proposed riverboat site is along the Fox River where it intersects with Rte. 173. It's only four or five miles from the hotel land. The original plan was to build a hotel and conference center geared for business and golf. It called for 100 suites. A misunderstanding with the village about the cost of water and sewer hook-ups dropped the number of units to 76 with expansion plans for another 76 sometime in the future. Now — with lower water and sewer costs and the possibility of legal gaming down the road — the plan may call for 137 units. The developers have been approved by two hotel companies — Best Western and Choice International. The later company franchises Comfort Suites and Quality Inns.

MHS garners blue ribbon nomination

MUNDELEIN—Santa left a blue ribbon in Mundelein High School's stocking this Christmas—the district received notification that it had been nominated for the "Blue Ribbon School" award for excellence in education. It is one of only 12 secondary schools in the state nominated for the honor this year. "I think we've taken great strides to incorporate the research base into our curriculum and instructional practice," Superintendent Linda Hanson said. "I think we're on the cutting edge with many of the innovations that really make education an exciting place to be right now."

Buttons aim to stop drunk driving

NORTH CHICAGO — The North Chicago Citizens Against Drug and Alcohol Abuse is coordinating awareness campaign this holiday season, reminding residents about the dangers of drinking and driving. CADAA has distributed several thousand promotional buttons to businesses in North Chicago, with the help of the city's police department. GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake Community Park District is seeking a meeting with Grayslake Area Public Library, hoping the two agencies may still come together on a joint building plan. ## Correct eating habits, diet way to live healthy life

It's Jan. 2 and Mr. "I-Need-To-Lose Weight" (Mr. I) has resolved to lose weight and get into shape. He heads to the local gym (the membership is a Christmas gift from Mrs. I), determined not only to burn off that extra ten pounds he gained during the holiday season, but to get into the best shape of his life.

He is adamant, drastically reducing his caloric intake, working out four hours a day, seven days a week. He feels great after the first week, his pants are looser, and he feels stronger and healthier than ever before. When the going gets tough...

The second week is a little different, though. The hunger pangs start setting in and muscles he never thought he had are giving him pain he never thought existed! But he remains determined. He still makes it to the gym every day and sticks to his diet.

The third week, "drop out" sets in. "Mr. I" begins to realize that he doesn't have the time—or the energy—to devote every free moment to exercise. So he heads to the gym only occasionally that week. The idea of eating another carrot makes him sick, and he keeps having recurring dreams of junk food. "Mr. I" starts feeling deprived and eventually breaks his diet by eating double chocolate cheesecake à la mode.

Another week goes by, and most of his old habits are back. The rationalization phase starts. "Mr. I" says things like "Exercise and diets are for weirdos," "If we were meant to be thin, God wouldn't have invented potato chips!" and "I'll try to start my diet again next week."

"Mr. I" trades in his carrots, celery and rice cakes for chocolate, ice cream and cookies. He makes every excuse not to exercise and resumes his role as "couch potato." By the fifth week he's gained back every pound he lost and even put on a few additional ones, too.

Similar scenarios

happen to millions of people year after year. But they can be avoided. The old phrase "slow and steady wins the race" is one "Mr. I" should have subscribed to.

A diet and exercise regimen should be something that's eased into, not jumped into. For someone like "Mr. I," who led a sedentary lifestyle, an intense exercise program is a real shock to the body. Not only did "Mr. I" set himself up for failure, but he could have harmed himself as well (pulled muscles and ripped tendons, just to name a few possibilities). Ideally, "Mr. I" should have started out with a minimal exercise program and gradually increased the time and intensity as his body got used to the new activity.

The right approach

"Mr. I's" approach to dieting was another mistake. By drastically reducing his intake of calories, he "tricked" his body into "thinking" that it was starving. As a result, his body built up extra fat cells, his metabolism slowed and, in the end, he ended up gaining weight.

Healthy eating habits and exercise shouldn't be thought of as a temporary way to get into shape, but as a way to live a healthy life. Hopefully, someday, "Mr. I" will come to understand this concept, but until then his scale will be having a lot of ups and downs!

Facts on exercising, eating right

Does one serving of tortilla chips go straight to your thighs? Can five minutes of exercise possibly help? With all the noise these days about exercise and eating right, it's hard to figure out fact from fallacy.

The Aerobics and Fitness Association of America has done some legwork to help dispel a few common myths. The following facts should help you get started on the way to total body fitness.

• Fallacy: A calorie is a calorie. One hundred calories of nacho-flavored tortilla chips is the same as 100 calories of nacho corn cakes.

• Fact: All calories are not created equal. Almost half the calories in nacho chips come from fat, which is more likely to be stored as body fat.

Rice and corn cakes are comprised primarily of complex carbohydrates, which are converted easily into body energy. At 40 calories, nacho corn cakes feature the taste and crunch of nacho corn chips, but with one-third the calories and no fat.

• Fallacy: Cellulite is the most difficult type of fat to lose.

• Fact: The word cellulite was coined to refer to dimpled fat; however, it is just plain fat. The only way to get rid of it—dimpled or not—is through regular aerobic exercise, combined with a reduced-calorie, low-fat diet.

• Fallacy: Exercise can turn fat into muscle.

• Fact: You can't turn apples into oranges, and you can't turn fat into muscle. They are two different types of body mass that can change in volume, but not in substance.

• Fallacy: Exercising only twice a week is wasted effort.

• Fact: A sedentary individual who begins a well-rounded fitness program will benefit from exercising, even as infrequently as twice a week.

• Fallacy: Repeated leg-lifts will eliminate saddlebags.

• Fact: Leg-lifts help strengthen thigh muscles. "Flab" and excess fat is reduced by doing aerobic exercise and by decreasing fat in the diet.

The benefits of a healthy lifestyle reach far beyond fat loss—to improved stress management; better overall health; and increased energy, flexibility and strength.

CLC's standout Ed White top asset is his versatility

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

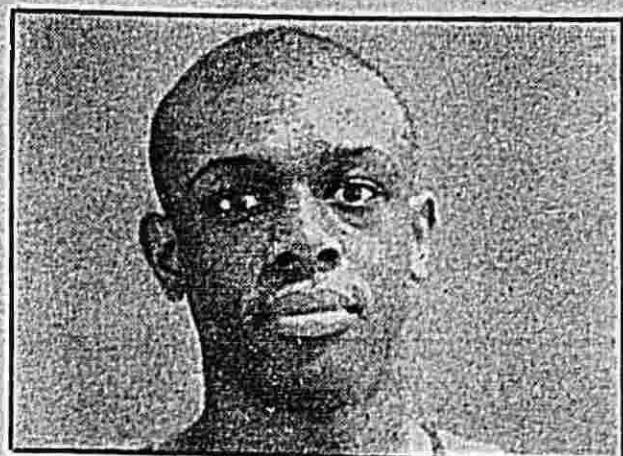

Eddie White stole a pass, ran down to the other end of the court, where he put in an easy lay-up. Or maybe, with just as smooth a motion, a 12-footer.

And this was just during a 10-minute stretch during a College of Lake County men's basketball team practice. What he has accomplished during showtime, or games, is beginning to draw some Division I attention.

"I have never had a big man draw so much attention from Division I schools," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said.

White, a 6-7, 215 pounder, is not the rah-rah type player and the sophomore prefers it that way. He would rather let the 29.1 points per game and 12 rebounds a game speak for themselves. He has already had a 45-point game as CLC is 8-5 heading into the 1993 portion of the season.

"I expected us to have a good season, but not this good," White said. "I did not know I had that many. One of the other players told me I had 40."

White sat out his freshman year after playing junior high ball in Waukegan before playing for Waukegan High. He was more of a post-up player then.

"He shoots the ball so well. Most of the time, other teams try and put their big guy on him, but he can run and he is so much more agile than they are," Smith said.

Smith, CLC mentor for 24 years, knew of White's talents after seeing him play five games for the Bulldogs.

White had planned to attend another junior college. "I had intended to go to Kishwaukee, but coach gave me an offer (talent grant)," White recalled.

Once on the CLC campus, White was a frequent visitor to the gym in the steamy summer months. He may have been imagining himself with the talent of his NBA heroes, the Celtics' Robert Parish and Dave McHale. "I would work on my turn-around jumper. Coach taught me the outside shot," White said.

As word spreads like wildfire through the junior college ranks of this 6-7 fleet footed power, White may have to adjust to defensive attention. "The last game at Highland they double-teamed me," White said.

CLC is at Moaraine Valley in a 1 p.m. non-conference game followed by a women's game Jan. 2. Skyway Conference action begins Jan. 5 with a 5:30 p.m. game at Truman.

White is confident of the Lancers' league chances. "Most definitely," he said when asked if CLC would win it all.

Justice(us) falling on side of Patriots in tourney wins

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Paced by a second straight 20 point plus game from Jason Justus, the Stevenson boys basketball team continued to make an impression in its debut at the Elgin Christmas tournament.

Justus scored 25 points in a 90-61 romp over Dundee-Crown and then 24 in a 69-57 win over Glenbrook South. The wins improved the Pats record to 8-1, although Coach Ken Johnson preferred to credit the opposition and found faults with his team's play against Glenbrook South.

"Glenbrook South really controlled the game. They were more aggressive, had great shooters and are a fine ball club. We did not play well defensively. They were much quicker and faster than we were," Johnson said.

In addition to what the Titans were able to do, foul trouble and some players coming back from injury kept the Pats from being at peak form.

Jeff Turnbull contributed

11 points, despite coming back from an ankle injury and Kenyon Catchings, slowed by three early fouls, had 19 points.

"Jason has played well all year. He is a load inside," Johnson said.

Ryan Scully started at guard for the Pats after coming back from an injury. "He gives us a lot of things. He is a good, consistent defensive player and can shoot the three," Johnson said.

Stevenson led 7-0 at the outset and made nine-for-20 field goal tries in the first quarter, building a 21-7 lead. The titans struggled, missing 11 of 12 shots and committing five turnovers, in large part due to the Stevenson press.

Glenbrook South (4-7) began to find its range in the second stanza and cut the lead to seven in the third as it made its first three shots.

Mike Vodicka led the Titans with 25 points.

Stevenson was put in a position of having a chance to avenge its only loss of the year, to Highland Park. Elgin downed the Giants, setting up a match instead with Johnson's former school in the semifinals.

Slow start dooms Wildcats

by BRENT KILLACKY
Lakeland Newspapers

A strong 28-point performance by Libertyville guard Matt Heldman was not enough for the Libertyville Wildcats to defeat Maine South Hawks. The Wildcats lost 65-60 in the first round game at Wheeling's Hardwood Classic.

"This looked like an early morning game when we were trying to wake up," Libertyville Coach Max Sanders said of the 5:30 p.m. game. "They didn't come to play early in the game."

The Wildcats found themselves down 18-10 at the end of the first quarter. The momentum continued to favor the Hawks and by half-time the score was 35-28.

"We were playing as five individuals in the first half," Sanders said.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 5-5 overall and into the loser's bracket. Lake Zurich and North Chicago also suffered first-round defeats. Lake Zurich fell to Lake Park 59-38, North Chicago to Maine West 67-54.

Maine South's Steve Johnson used the Wildcat defensive weakness to score 13 points in the first half and finished with 18. The 6-foot-6 inch 220 pound center worked through the Wildcat defense for several inside shots.

Heldman worked in 12 points in the first half, but didn't hit from three-point range until the second half. Even there he sunk only two, which were the only three-point field goals by the Wildcats.

"They didn't shoot as many threes as expected," Maine South Coach Dave Scott said, adding the Hawks' defense was structured to stop the three-point assault. Libertyville was two-for-11 from the three-point line.

Libertyville was 23-for-45 in two-point field goals, and was eight-for-11 from the free-throw line. Maine South was 24-for-41 from two-point range, eight-for-13 from the free-throw line.

Scott said he switched the defensive pressure in the second half to refocus energies away from the non-emerged Libertyville three-point attack.

All of these changes in the second half switched momentum, but only briefly. Libertyville tied the game with 5:29 left in the third quarter, but the Wildcats were never able to grab the lead.

Jamie Currthers, 6-5 Wildcat junior, contributed only two points in the first half, but hit 12 points in the second half.

Any possibility of a Wildcat victory was dashed in the final minutes as Maine South monopolized on several key free-throws.

"We made some bad choices on who is open and who isn't," Sander said.

James Lewis contributed six points for the Wildcats, Sean Devine five, Tim Padera four and Jason Camp three.

Wildcats' guards hold key

by H. McDONALD
Lakeland Newspapers

After going 2-2 in the Hersey Christmas Tournament, the Libertyville Girls Varsity Basketball team is looking forward to playing tough against Warren Jan. 7.

Head Coach Tom Murphy said players other than junior forward Sarah Weiss and junior guard Kelly Karl will have to step up if the team is to win.

"Sarah's been pretty consistent for us, but it depends on the type of game with Kelly," Murphy said. "If it's a transition game, she scores, if it's half-court she doesn't score as much."

"We're hoping some people step up. We're struggling with some of the other (girls)."

That means getting some tough defense out of off-guards and other point guards, like juniors Mandy McLean, 5-foot-5, and Erica Chung, 5-3.

Warren (11-1) is coming off a tournament title at Maine East, downing Josephineum 62-55 in the title game. Warren's key is 5-9 guard Marlene Elfering, according to Murphy. But, he said, the team will not focus on her.

"We can't key on one player," Murphy said. "We have to play them as a team. Warren's real tough."

"It's a matter of out playing them."

Game time in Gurnee is 7 p.m.

Murphy said the tournament play was good for the girls. Libertyville (10-4) beat Wheeling 54-30 with Weiss scoring 17 points and pulling down 11 rebounds. Marsha Fletcher added 13 points.

Against Elk Grove, Libertyville lost 49-41. Weiss again led the team with 16 points and 13 rebounds. Lindsey Celba added 9 points with 12 rebounds.

Libertyville beat a strong Glenbrook North team with Kelly Karl leading the team with 19 points and 5 assists. Sophomore Julie Virta added 14 points.

In the consolation championship game, Lake Park dominated the game and won 62-27. Weiss had 20 of the 27 points.

"Against Elk Grove, we played poorly," Murphy said. "Against Lake Park, we were tired. To play four games in two days like that just doesn't work with the way we play."

"We attack the entire game."

Knights to meet at CLC

Lake County Knights semi-pro football team will be holding a meeting at the College of Lake County Jan. 11.

The 7 p.m. informational meeting will be held in room 254.

Dance

Clogging classes

Clogging is dancing to country-Western and other music using the traditional Appalachian steps modified for current trends in line and circle styles. Clogging is a uniquely American form of dancing which developed in Appalachia over the last 300 years. Cloggers now dance with taps on the shoes, but the influence of the Irish jig, English Morris dances, and Highland Fling can be recognized in the dance style. The German and Polish polkas, African slave dances, and Cherokee Indian dancing also show in the current dance routines. In the classes taught by Rick and Dorothy Graton, the basic movements and steps of clogging for individual "freestyle" dancing will be taught in addition to dances in the circle and line style and contemporary clogging routines. The eight-week beginner class starts Wednesday, Jan. 6 at Richmond Memorial Hall, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Continuing Clogging will be on Wednesdays starting Jan. 6 at 7:30 p.m. Cost for either class is $36. No partner needed. Call (815) 678-4820 to register.

The lovely Belle meets new friends—the Enchanted Objects of the Beast's castle—in an exciting, new version of a tale as old as time—Walt Disney's World On Ice presents "Beauty and the Beast," opening Jan. 26 through Feb. 7 at Chicago Stadium.

'Beauty and the Beast' on ice

One of the most beautiful love stories ever told will come to life when Walt Disney's World On Ice presents "Beauty and the Beast" glides into the Chicago Stadium for a two-week engagement, Jan. 26 through Feb. 7.

Tickets are now on sale at the Chicago Stadium Box Office, 1800 W. Madison, and all Chicago area Ticketmaster locations.

Like Disney's blockbuster movie, this six-million-dollar ice extravaganza combines a beloved tale and an unforgettable cast of characters with the Academy Award-winning music of Howard Ashman and Alan Menken. Featured songs include "Beauty and the Beast," "Belle," "Be Our Guest" and other movie favorites. Voices are performed by superstars Angela Lansbury, Robby Benson, David Odgen Stiers, Jerry Orbach and Paige O'Hara.

This enchanting production of song, dance, comedy and romance showcases the ice skating excellence of an international company of champions. After an extensive worldwide talent search, America's own Maradith Feinberg, graceful and engaging, was selected to portray the charming, adventuresome Belle. Russian skating dynamo Victor Barichevsev, winner of several regional and national Soviet titles, plays the bragging village bully Gaston.

Jon Robinson, 10-time winner of the highest freestyle event in the Ice Skating Institute of America championships, shows a flair for comedy as he skates the role of the hapless, hilarious Le Fou. World champion Olga Neizvestnaya and partner Sergey Zaitsev of Russia offer a remarkable repertoire of skating skills in unparalleled pair presentations.

Ticket prices are $15.50, $12.50, and $9.50, with a limited number of $25 ringside seats available for all performances. For general information call (312)733-5300.

Shopping for the wedding dress of your dreams

It's easiest to start shopping for your wedding dress once you have chosen the type of wedding you would like to have. The first step is to look through bridal magazines and catalogs to get a good idea of what is available. Next, make a list of department stores and bridal shops recommended by friends or family. You should also set a budget. The average cost of a wedding dress ranges from $700 to $800. You can, however, find dresses as low as $300 or as high as $5,000 or more. It's a decision to be left up to you and your budget.

Starting the search
Most wedding dresses are custom ordered. This process can require several months, so most shops suggest that you order your dress no less than 16 weeks before your wedding. Some dresses can be obtained sooner if you don't have that much time; the processing time depends on the manufacturer's production schedule.

Avoiding costly alterations

Your bridal fashion consultant should use a vinyl tape measure to get measurements of your bust, waist, hips and from the base of your throat to the hemline. Each manufacturer has a unique sizing chart which the consultant should show you. Select the size that comes closest to matching your measurements. You can always take in the dress, but you cannot enlarge it. It isn't necessary to order two sizes up—alterations will be more expensive if you do. You should determine the size you need by using your measurements and the sizing chart. Then be sure that size is indicated on the sales receipt.

Make shopping easier

• Take the magazine or catalog page with you to the bridal shop. Note the magazine name and issue to make ordering easier.

• Call the manufacturer to confirm that the bridal shop is an approved resource for the dress. Some stores will take your order and deliver a copy rather than the actual dress you have selected.

• Inquire about the store's alteration policy. Some stores charge for all alterations; some for selected tasks.

• Ask friends and relatives for recommendations on bridal shops.

• Look for sales at full-service bridal shops. You can save money while still receiving the attention you deserve.

Advice on selecting a wedding ring

Selecting a wedding ring is, for many, the first opportunity to buy a piece of fine jewelry, one that will last forever.

It is helpful to understand some of the basic information on wedding jewelry before you begin shopping for rings.

The type of ring that is best for you depends on the shape of your hand. Large hands can carry a bold, free-form design, while a narrow band with a single stone is more appropriate to a smaller hand.

The per-carat price of a ring featuring a gem is determined by the cutting, color and clarity of the stone.

A fine one-half carat gem will cost more than an inferior one-carat gem.

Most stones are faceted, or carved, to allow a maximum of brilliance and shine. Cabochons are smoothly cut gems.

Clarity describes the presence or absence of blemishes. If, when a stone is magnified ten times, no imperfections are visible, it is flawless.

Channel set refers to stones set in parallel grooves for a sculptured look. A fiery shine is achieved when stones are held individually by metal teeth in a pronged setting.

An interesting fact to remember is that the best diamonds are colorless.

All of these guidelines will help you in your decision when you are faced with a vast array of rings from which to choose.

However, stone, style and setting are yours to determine, according to your own idea of what makes up the perfect ring for you.

Tips to make choosing the perfect wedding flowers

The hardest thing about choosing floral arrangements is deciding between all of the different varieties available. The following tips should make the decisions easier.

- Start shopping for a florist four to six months before your wedding.

- Ask florists you're considering to show you photos of the weddings they've done in the past.

- Consider the overall style of your wedding when choosing arrangements. Freestanding sprays of lilies or chrysanthemums are nice for the altar.

- Small arrangements are often used to encircle candle holders. Some options are baby's breath or tea roses. Small bouquets tied with ribbon dress up aisle seats.

- Florists should be asked if they supply the white aisle runner that is unrolled before the bride enters.

- The bridal bouquet should be the star of the show containing flowers in colors matching the bridesmaids' dresses mixed with traditional whites.

- Bridesmaids' flowers should be similar to yours but less elaborate. Consider a wreath of flowers or blossoms on combs for their hair. The flowers should match their dresses as well.

- A basket of rose petals or a tiny bouquet is perfect for the flower girl.

- The groom's boutonniere should be a flower contained in your bouquet, and it should be similar to the ushers' but more elaborate.

- Dads, ushers and special male guests should wear flowers matching the bridesmaids' dresses or traditional white or ivory.

- Order corsages for the mothers of the bride and groom as well as other honored female guests. Keep the colors of their dresses in mind as much as possible when ordering.

- Centerpieces for the tables should fit in with the style and color of the other arrangements. Keep these arrangements low enough or well above eye level to ensure they do not interfere with conversation.

- The florist can make an extra bouquet for you to toss if you choose to keep your bouquet.

- Think of other places you might like to have floral arrangements. The cake table at the reception, on top of the cake or at the end of the receiving line are several options.

- An arrangement should be made for your home if photos will be taken there before the wedding.

Honeymoon travel tips

Choosing a competent travel agent is a must for a successful honeymoon.

Ask friends and family for referrals on agents in your area, and ask co-workers if there is a travel agent that is frequently used by your company. Many states require travel agents to be licensed which is added assurance that you'll get the services of an informed expert.

Services of travel agents in the U.S. and Canada are free to the consumer. Commissions are paid to the agent by rental car companies, airlines, hotels and other travel-related businesses. The only expense you may need to pay is long-distance telephone calls to your honeymoon destination. Ask the travel agent in advance to be sure of the arrangements.

Travel agents are valuable sources of information for up-to-the-minute information on air fares, hotels, special packages and discounts that most people don't have access to. Travel agents can book flights and hotels, arrange sight-seeing tours, show tickets and give advice on climate, customs and answer virtually any questions you may have concerning your destination. Most agencies are computerized which enables your agent to tell you about the availability of flights and hotels and book your reservations while you wait.

Travel agents can also arrange limousine service, airport transfers, insurance coverage for lost luggage, accidents, automobiles and cancellation policies, car rentals, train trips, and cruises.

Helpful hints to overcome pre-wedding stress

In order to share a life together, you must first master the art of balancing yours, mine and ours. Marriage is the union of two people who are stronger together than they are apart. Follow these helpful hints to overcome the stress that often accompanies wedding planning and marriage.

- Intimacy is a priority. It's easier to find emotional harmony when you're physically close as well.

- Demonstrate pride in the accomplishments of one another. Show compassion for each other's shortcomings.
- Acknowledge the sacrifices made for the sake of the marriage. Thank-you notes and special dinners can do a great deal to encourage "give and take" in a marriage.
- Develop a sense of empathy. Stand in your partner's shoes and understand his point of view. You don't have to agree, but see things from his perspective as well, and vice versa.

- Ask for feelings of your partner when points of contention arise. Listen to each other without becoming defensive. You can't argue over feelings. Take your turn. Avoid being critical.
- Don't expect everything that is important to you to be important to your partner. Educate each other on your perspectives, and decide how to find a balance.

- Realize and accept that you and your mate will have different values and interests even after you are married.
- Strike compromises in which you both can win, but don't keep score.

- Don't jump to conclusions in new situations. Keep your partner posted on your feelings about your relationship.

- Respect each other's opinions. Differing perspectives can enrich your relationship as you grow together.

Bridal footwear—romantic expressionism

Bridal fashions are simple and elegant for spring '93, with footwear designs inspired by romance. The styles range from the traditional sexy satin heel to a lacy-Victorian boot complementing this season's bridal trends of linear silhouettes, shorter hems, bustier looks, fitted sleeves, covered shoulders and bustles.

To accent today's fashions, various heel heights are chosen for romantic expressionism. From sensual high heels to 19th-century-inspired curvaceous heels to basic flats, the bride has endless options. Rhinestones, pearls, iridescent beadings and crystal gems are used to create a mood as individual as the bride. And shoes can be dyed a wide range of shades to perfectly match wedding party ensembles.

Experts offer these hints for choosing the best footwear accents for the bride and her attendants:

- Choose a comfortable heel height. There are a variety of fashion styles available in high, medium and low heels.

The bride's height and dress length should be taken into consideration.

- Try on the shoes at gown fittings. The height of the heel will affect the skirt length.

- Break in new shoes by wearing them around the house for a few hours at least a week before the ceremony. Scuff the soles a bit to avoid slipping down the aisle.

- When having shoes dyed to match, bring a swatch of material from the dress—don't guess at the right shade. Allow 72 hours for dyeing.

- Add pizzazz to a plain pump with a rhinestone or pearl ornament.

- Satin dyeable Mary-janes with a swivel strap or strapless skimmers are available for children. Flower girls should be measured in-store to assure a proper fit.

- Wedding day footwear can be dyed black for use on other formal occasions.

No matter what theme the bride chooses—traditional, glamorous or whimsical—the key to a fun-filled and flawless wedding is planning ahead.

Photos make memories last

The planning of your wedding photo album is very important. Hiring a professional photographer who specializes in weddings is the only way to get professional-quality photos.

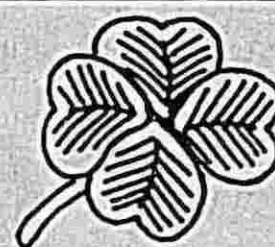

Start looking for a photographer as soon as you can—preferably six months before your wedding. Friends and family can give referrals on local photographers who do quality work. When you've narrowed down your choices, use work samples from others' weddings to help you make the final selections. Look for sharp, clear pictures with flattering lighting and nice composition. Make sure you meet with the actual photographer who will be shooting your wedding. Many studios have several photographers who specialize in weddings.

The photographer should shoot a formal portrait for your newspaper announcement. Most newspapers require the photo to be in black-and-white, and you'll also want a color photo for you and your family. Decide, with the photographer, what type of pictures you'd like for your album. Formal and posed, candid and lively or a mixture. You should also review the important traditional moments you want the photographer to shoot as well. Keep a running list and add shots as they come to mind.

Some photographers offer special packages that include the prints and the charge for their shooting time in one price. Others charge separately for these and allow you to purchase prints and albums separately. Most photographers will request a deposit—from one-third to one-half of the total when you sign the contract. Make sure the contract includes the name of the photographer, times and places he or she will be shooting, total charge, delivery date, who owns the negatives and what will happen if you need to change the date or cancel.

Royal traditions create romantic memories

Tradition and the contemporary wedding are a heaven made match as today's bride includes the romantic customs of the past with current trends. Too often though, traditions are not known or understood. Here are three popular and royal traditions originating from English and European custom. They are certain to add romance and charm to your wedding day.

A special custom just for your bridesmaids and widely followed in the traditional wedding, is the custom of ribbon pulling. The bride acquires six special bridesmaids' charms: a ring, a flower, a heart, a clover, an anchor, and a rocking horse (the English used a thimble). A thin blue ribbon is then tied to each charm as each is hidden in the wedding cake's outside edge of frosting. The bridesmaids then take turns selecting a charm.

The bridesmaid's fortune is foretold by the charm she draws from the cake. The ring symbolizes the next to marry and the rocking horse who will have a "happy home." The anchor symbolizes a future of adventure, the heart of true love forthcoming, and the clover of good luck. Presentation of each charm in special jewelry boxes is an accepted variation of this tradition.

The next tradition originated in the Victorian Age of England. The commonly heard wedding poem "Something Old, Something New, Something Borrowed, Something Blue, and a Lucky Sixpence for Your Shoe" is perhaps the most widely followed nuptial custom, but the least understood.

Each line of the poem has unique significance to the wedding. "Something Old" and "Borrowed" are items usually given to the bride by a loved one to bring happiness to the new marriage. "Something New" often her gown, represents the bride's acceptance of new life. As for the "Something Blue," its origins can be traced to the rhyme "Those who dress in blue have lovers true."

The last line of the poem, "And a Lucky Sixpence for Your Shoe" has gained tremendous popularity in recent years, with its story becoming more widely known and followed. In the Victorian Era, brides began to place a sixpence in the heel of the left wedding slipper to ensure wealth and good fortune to the newlywed couple.

Ten steps to a successful shower

1. Guests: Consult with the wedding couple, their parents, the bridal party and other friends to ensure a complete guest list.

2. Time: Select the day and hour of your shower while you're clearing the guest list. Make sure the principal guests can attend.

3. Theme: Have a creative theme that will suit the couples' personality.

4. Location: Pick a location that will accommodate the number of potential guests and that will work with your theme.

5. Invitations: Invitations may be purchased or handmade. Mail them at least two weeks before the shower. Include all of the following: name of person(s) being honored, date, time, place (include directions), kind (theme), where the couple is registered, ad name of the hosts.

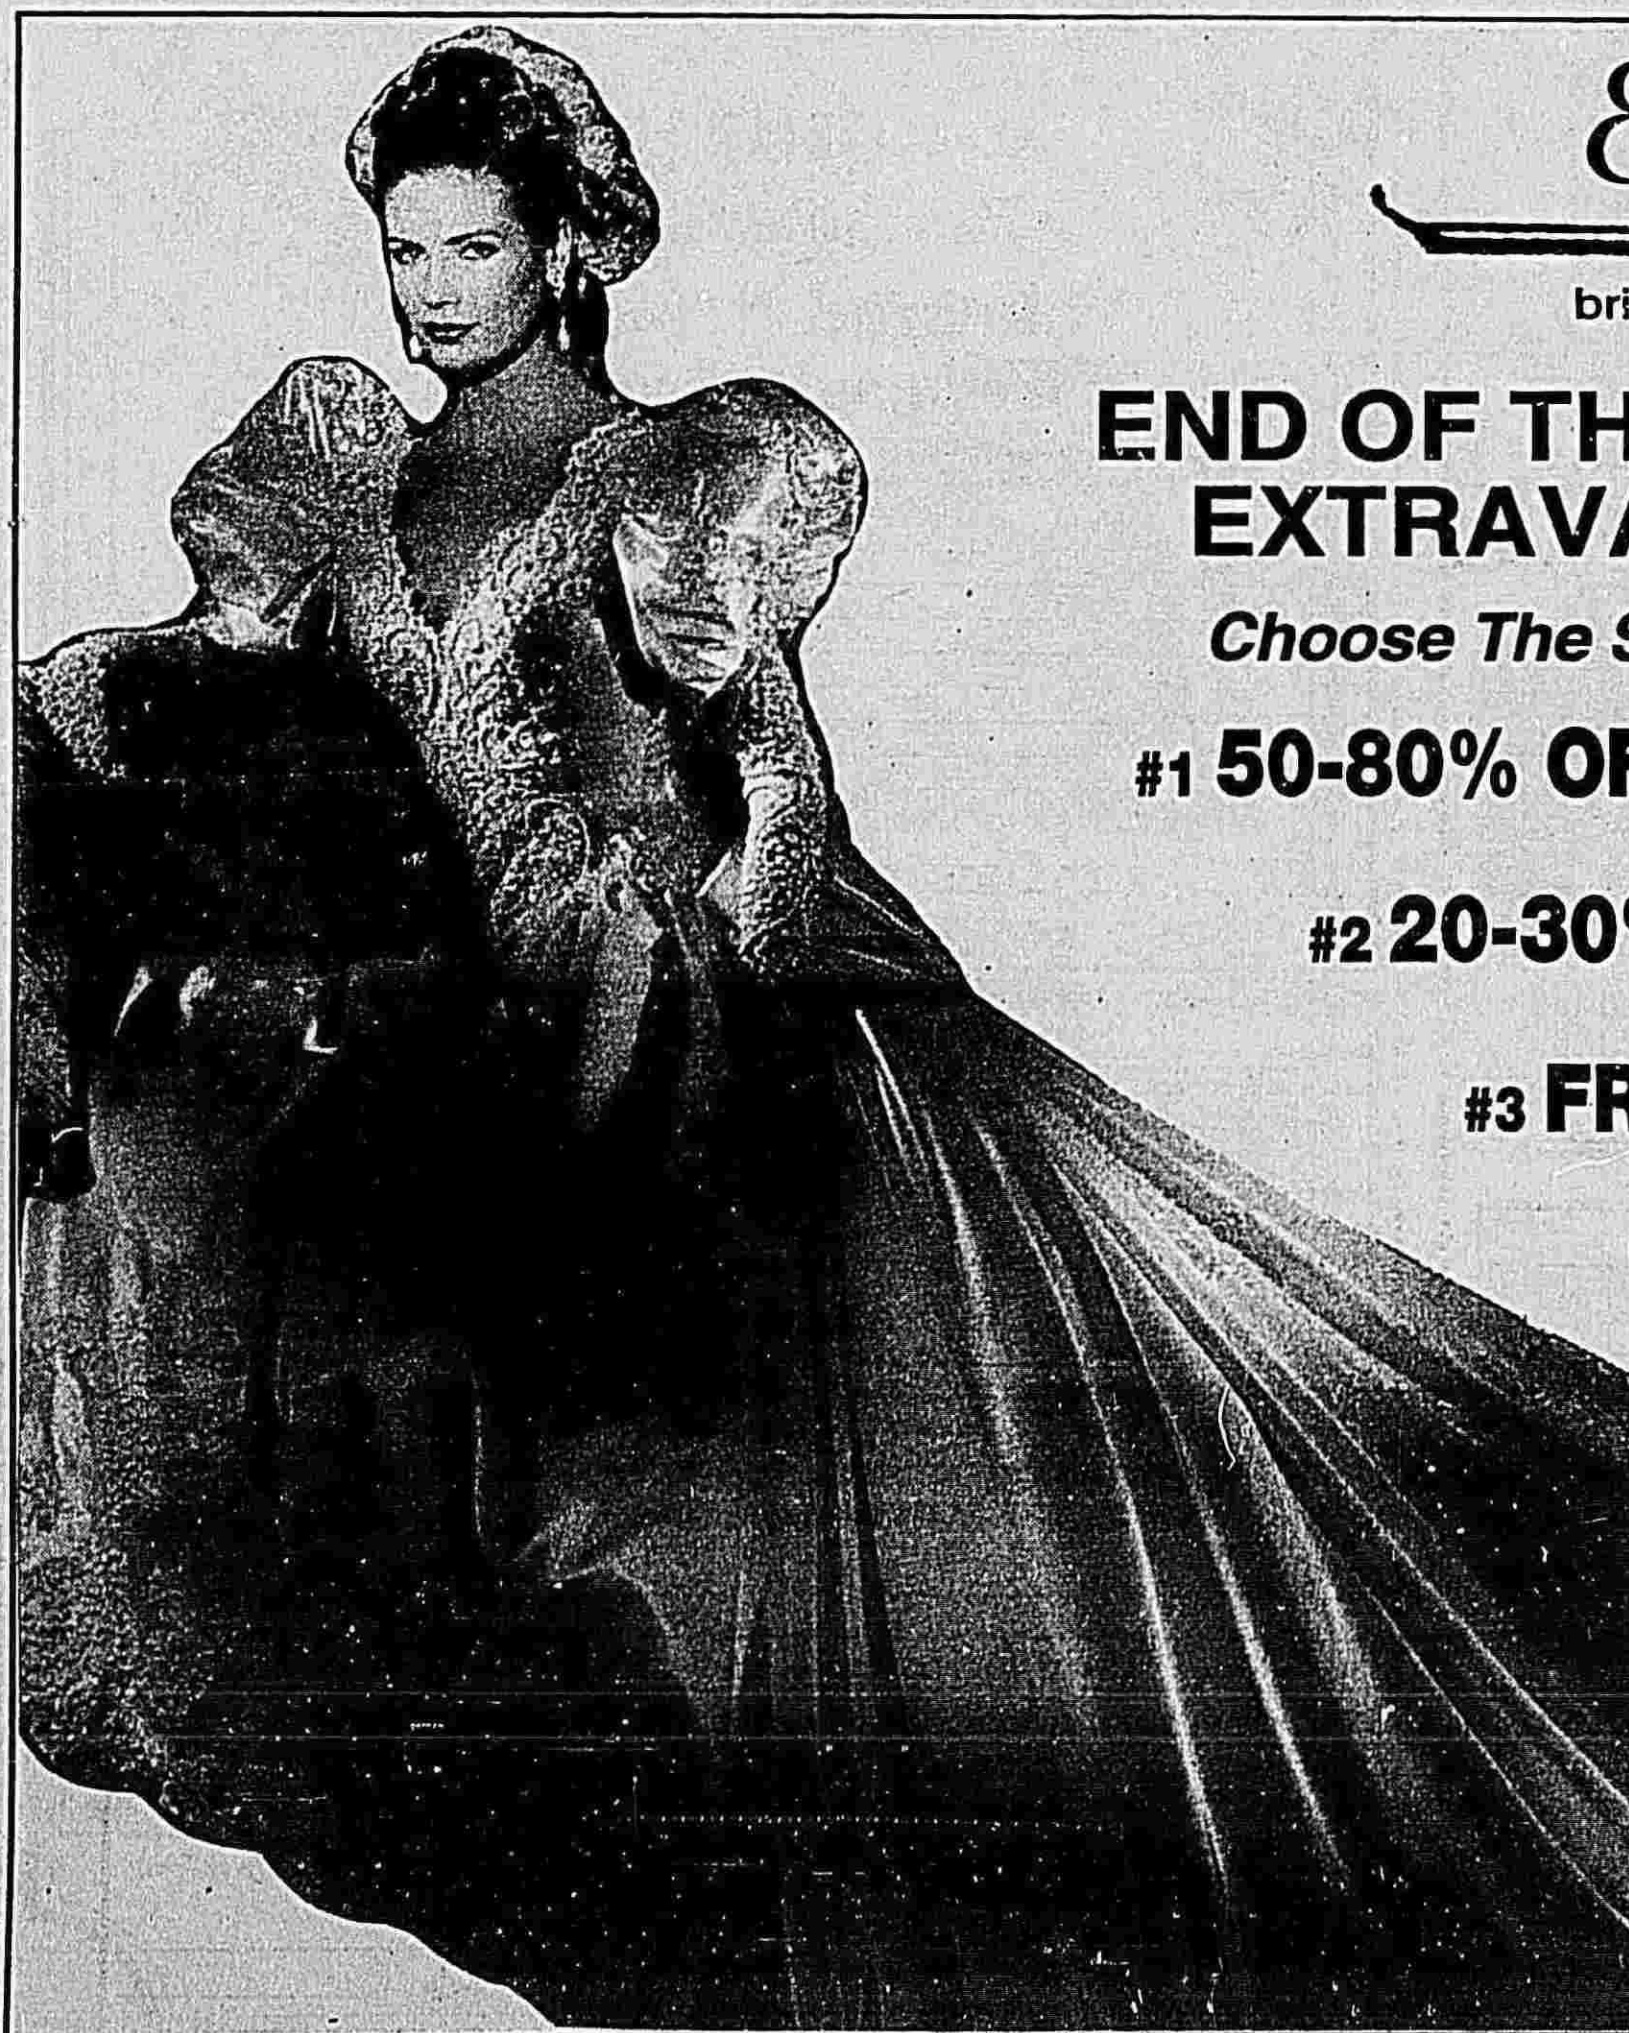

6. Food: Plan a menu to go with your theme. Don't forget silverware, plates, glasses, etc.

7. Decorations: Choose decorations that will give your shower area a festive look.

8. Activities: Guests like to do things at shower besides watch the bride open her gifts. Plan fun games that will follow the theme or have someone demonstrate a new craft.

9. Helpers: Contact guests you know well to help you run your shower smoothly.

10. Relax and enjoy!

Taking guesswork out of wedding gifts

Josie, a newlywed from New York City, was disappointed with her wedding gifts. Although she had carefully registered for the china, crystal, and flatware patterns she wanted, most of her guests neglected to find out where. Instead, Josie received eight vases, five picture frames, three sugar-and-cream sets, and only one-and-a-half place settings. She had hoped to begin entertaining friends at home right away, but all her free time after the wedding was spent returning unwanted gifts and haggling with salespeople.

The bridal registry will take the guesswork out of wedding gifts, but only if it's used correctly by the couple and their guests. Following are 12 golden rules for smooth and successful registering.

1. Register three to six months before the wedding. If you register earlier, some seasonal patterns and promotional items may be out of season by your wedding day.

2. Visit the store during off hours, to examine patterns and consider choices in a relaxed and tranquil environment.

3. Give yourselves plenty of time. These are important decisions, and you should think them over. Many brides-to-be first come in alone to narrow down their selections, then return with the fiancées to make final decisions.

4. Take advantage of registry consultants. These experts are invaluable sources of advice about everything from wedding etiquette to bone china.

5. Be descriptive. Don't write down just any number on the registry form—it may not be the style number. Include as much description as space allows.

6. Register in a price range. Include high-priced gifts for guests who can afford them, less-expensive gifts for shower guests and guests on limited budgets.

7. Use your imagination. China, crystal, silver, linen, and housewares are classic wedding gifts—and perennial favorites with brides and grooms—but consider registering for furniture, sports and camping equipment, gardening tools, computers, stereos. Several specialty stores and mail-order catalogues now offer registries as well, for gifts from antiques to CDs.

8. Don't overlap. Register for each item in one store only, otherwise you will go crazy keeping track of gifts that have and haven't been purchased.

9. Never announce your registration in wedding invitations—this implies that gifts are as important to you as guests. Friends and family can make sure word gets out.

10. Save mailing labels from the packages you receive. If you decide to return the gift, the label may be your only proof of purchase.

11. Keep a running gift list. Make a note of each item you receive, who sent it, and any thoughts that come to mind when you unwrap it. This will make writing thank-you notes easier; once gifts start piling up, cards are easily misplaced, and your memory becomes unreliable.

12. Follow up with your bridal registrar. Contact her after the shower to compare notes; after the wedding, fill in any purchases that weren't received from guests.

Menu planning tips for your wedding day

The main considerations when planning your wedding meal are the time of day and the type of reception you desire. Whatever your choice, make sure you finish the meal with delicious wedding cake for all!

Brunch

Brunch is served between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. There are a wide variety of items to choose from when planning brunch. Serving a variety of crepes is a good choice because they can be filled with fruit and other breakfast items or lunch items such as chicken and mushrooms. Home-baked muffins, smoked salmon and light salads are also a good choice. If you want a more substantial meal, choose ham, chicken salad, rice and a variety of omelets.

Juices paired with liquor make refreshing drinks such as Bloody Marys, champagne punch and mimosas. Light fruit desserts as well as strawberries dipped in chocolate or ice cream are sure to be enjoyed by guests.

Luncheon

Lunch is usually served after 12 noon, and it can be sit-down or buffet style. Cold cuts, cheese, breads and condiment platters combined with a few hot dishes such as pasta or chicken are appropriate. A wide selection of wines should be offered as well as fresh fruits for dessert.

Tea

This is a romantic choice and usually begins between two and four in the afternoon. Scones and crumpets with fruit butters are a good choice. Offer a wide variety of teas on ice in warm weather or with fruit liquors and rum when it's cold. Miniature pastries, cookies and fruit tarts make excellent additions.

Cocktails

An early cocktail party starts around 3 or 4 p.m., a late afternoon party between 5 and 6 p.m. and an evening party between 6 and 8 p.m. Hors d'oeuvres are appropriate for all cocktail parties. The early party should offer a casual, light buffet with meat and vegetables. A later party would be a light dinner with a buffet-style meal. A wide selection of wine and liquor as well as nonalcoholic drinks should be offered. A fresh fruit dessert is also appropriate for all cocktail parties.

Dinner

Dinner is the traditional wedding meal and is usually served after 5 p.m. as a buffet, sit-down meal or a combination of both. It usually begins with a cocktail hour with hors d'oeuvres.

Many dinners include fish or chicken as well as pasta. Rice pilaf and potatoes are good choices for side dishes. Dinner is usually accompanied by a full bar, and a dessert buffet may be offered as well.

Create perfect wedding favors

Add a special touch to your wedding with party-perfect favors! A thoughtful memento for guests to take home and treasure will be a reminder of your wedding for days...and years to come.

Whether you're making favors for the rehearsal dinner, ceremony or reception, keep your theme and color scheme in mind. You can mix and match gorgeous ribbon, colorful circles of tulle, and decorative trims to create spectacular remembrances -- bows filled with candy-coated almonds, bundles of rice for throwing, and miniature candy-filled champagne glasses.

You might also add a special touch to wedding festivities with:

- Confetti bundles. For a grand exit from the ceremony or entrance into the reception, provide guests with tiny bags of white or colored confetti topped with delicate bows, doves or pearl hearts.

- Dazzling gifts. Top bridesmaids' gifts with magnificent bows, then attach decorative champagne glasses, party parasols or fancy fans. For the groomsmen, tie on black top hats and canes.

- Fancy hair accessories. Attach bows, ribbons and/or sprays of pearls to plain barrettes or combs.

Changing times—nuptials for the '90s

A formal wedding followed by a reception with family and friends may be the most traditional, but times change, and many couples are opting for personalized wedding celebrations.

Today, people really are daring to be different. Two professional divers said "I do" while simultaneously performing backflip dives off of a diving platform, and another couple was married in an air balloon.

With imagination and inventiveness, your wedding can be more than a ceremony—it can be an event!

A wedding in New York City was held in May 1992 where the bride and groom, both theatrical people, each sang the song of their choice to one another, and then sang a song together.

If you don't have the talent, desire (or courage) to sing at your wedding, having a local church choir, or a non-religious choir or singing group perform at your wedding would add drama to the atmosphere.

If you're totally against anything traditional, go all out and choose an outrageous color for the groom's tux and the bride's dress—perhaps scarlet?

However, if actually wearing a shocking color is too much, an exciting, bold color scheme for the wedding will still get your point across. Colors such as fuchsia, black, electric or royal blue, deep orange, and violet, are a far cry from the ever-popular pastels.

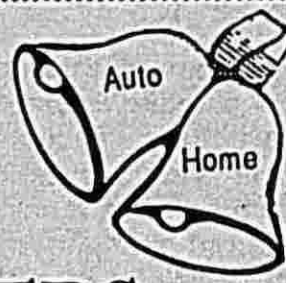

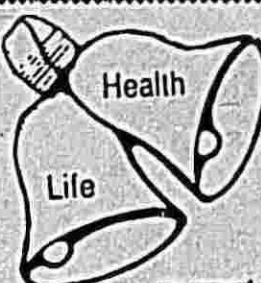

Themed weddings are growing in popularity. Even if you are American-born, with a little research on culture, you can have a ceremony with foreign flair—Native American, African, Asian, Caribbean—or even a romantic Victorian wedding.

Some people find traditional weddings too predictable. Loosen up this once-in-a-lifetime event by having a nightclub or party-style reception with lots of loud music and dancing.

Or, if you want your wedding to be a formal, but not traditional, occasion, your ceremony and reception can be an elegant and sophisticated black-tie affair.

Since most weddings only last a day, it should be a day that your guests will never forget. So go all-out and plan a day that's as close as possible to the wedding you have always dreamed about!

Several tips for the 'older' bride

Anyone who believes that all brides are young and blushing should consider these facts: Today, one fifth of all women getting married for the first time are over 25. Of these, one third are in their thirties, forties, or older.

Many older brides prefer small ceremonies with only family and close friends attending, but it's perfectly okay to choose any size ceremony you like. If you're like most older brides, you'll have only a maid or matron of honor, rather than a whole procession of bridesmaids, but again this is up to you. In either case, don't overlook the possibility of asking young relatives to be flower girls or ring bearers.

What about the question of being "given away?" This ritual can easily be omitted if it makes you feel uncomfortable. But if you would like to be given away and your father is not alive or able to do so, feel free to ask any male relative or usher to perform the role.

Feel perfectly free to wear a long, lacy white wedding dress if this is what you've always imagined you'd do as a bride. If this isn't you consider off-white, ivory, cream, or the palest pastels such as lavender or sea-green. A sleek style, such as a gently flaring or softly-gathered skirt with a simple bodice and matching jacket, is most attractive. Your dress can be long or short, but for a small wedding, you might feel more comfortable in a length that's just-below the-knee or mid-calf (very popular right now).

If you like, you can top off your outfit with a hat, or maybe a hat with a short veil. A pillbox style or a hat with a delicate brim is especially smart. Where can you buy these styles? Try a bridal salon or your local store's bridal department first.

Many bridal manufacturers are developing new lines of dresses that cater to the sophisticated tastes of your age group.

Steps brides can take for wedding success

There are many steps brides can take to make their wedding a success. The following suggestions will organize the many details and help get your wedding off to a smooth start.

Set your budget

Planning will be much easier when you work within a set budget. Once you decide on the total amount you want to spend, you should decide how much to spend in each area. This will save a great deal of decision-making time because you will know what you can and cannot afford for each specific category.

Get organized

Many brides find checklists useful in organizing their wedding plans. There are many different methods, however, such as color-coded folders, computer files or index cards. After you choose the system that is best for you, the next step is to make a master list of all the things you need to do (ordering flower arrangements, for example). This list should then be divided into smaller tasks (call around for prices, match flower to fabric of bridesmaids' dresses, etc.).

Set priorities

Planning will be much easier if you prioritize the things you need to get done each day. You usually won't have time to follow-up on an idea the minute you think of it. Keep a list of these ideas to make it easier to set your priorities and get everything done on time.

Research

You can get ideas for many of your wedding items by looking through catalogs or magazines. Tear out photos of gown styles, bouquets and dinnerware patterns and take them into the bridal shops to help you when you begin shopping.

Bridal events

Bridal events are a great way to cut down on the time you spend running from merchant to merchant. Local newspapers give the dates, times and places for bridal fairs and other special events where you will have a chance to take care of many of your wedding details under one roof.

Shop by mail or phone

Doing research over the phone will save time by letting you get to know local merchants to help you to pick the ones which match your style and budget. Be sure to ask detailed questions and take notes. You should also take advantage of any information-by-mail offer that companies may offer. Catalogs are also good places to get gift ideas for attendants and others you want to honor.

Buy an answering machine

If you don't already have one, an answering machine is a good investment. Vendors can call your home number and leave detailed messages regarding availability, color, cost, etc. This will prevent you from being disturbed at work, and it will also allow you to deal with the vendors when you're ready.

Don't neglect other duties

You'll save time in the long run if you keep on top of other activities while you're planning your wedding. Letting things pile up at the office will make it harder to take off when you really need to. Think of how nice it will be coming back from your honeymoon without worries of extra work waiting for you!

Pearls perfect to adorn any bride

In the months leading up to the wedding day, the bride and groom have countless decisions to make. Attending to such details as seating arrangements and selecting gifts for the attendants can be both exhilarating and exhausting. By planning ahead and prioritizing appropriately, couples can minimize potential stress, while ensuring that nothing will be overlooked.

For instance, because they are an age-old symbol of love and purity, pearls are uniquely suited to adorn the glowing bride and to serve as mementos for the entire wedding party. And—an added bonus for busy couples—it's easy to purchase gifts for the bridesmaids and ushers while selecting cultured pearl jewelry to be worn on the wedding day.

Choosing cultured pearl accessories ensures that the wedding-day jewelry can be cherished—and worn—for many years to come. Cultured pearls which, like the natural, are grown in live oysters, will maintain a long-lasting beauty and value. Imitation pearls, on the other hand, are made almost entirely of synthetic—and sometimes organic—chemicals, and therefore have no intrinsic value.

And, with more and more Americans opting for formal weddings, and with the renewed emphasis on traditionally-styled fashions, accessorizing with fine jewelry has become increasingly important. Consequently, it is important to select the best-quality cultured pearl jewelry that you can afford.

Look for pearls that have a bright, clear luster and a deep inner glow. Try to select pearls that are relatively free of surface blemishes (cracks, bumps or blisters), which can detract from the overall beauty and may shorten the life of the pearl.

In addition, it is best to match pearl color to individual skin tone. Women with light hair and fair complexions tend to look best in cultured pearls with a slight rose tint, while cultured pearls in creamy, off-white shades complement darker hair and skin tones.

With the variety of cultured pearl accessories to choose from, it's easy to enjoy the convenience of one-stop shopping for the bridal party. Bridesmaids will be delighted with gifts of cultured pearl pendants, bracelets or earrings, while cultured pearl tie tacks, cuff links or shirt studs are appropriate choices for ushers.

Whatever the final selections, cultured pearls are sure to add a beautifully delicate touch to the wedding day ensemble. And, perhaps best of all, their beauty—and value—can be enjoyed for many years to come.

Harborside provides picturesque setting for bride's special day

Everything that could go wrong at the wedding of Diane Hoffman did go wrong. Because of that nerve-racking experience, she makes sure every detail is perfect for the weddings she coordinates at Kenosha's Holiday Inn Harborside.

She ensures a couple's day is memorable by finding out what is important to them from the start and helping them with as many details as possible.

"I follow through. That's the big difference here," said Hoffman, catering manager. "I make sure to ask as many questions as possible to get an understanding of the expectations of the bride and the family. It is important to find out as much as possible about what they are looking for and their budget up front."

The Holiday Inn Harborside, located on Kenosha's Lake Michigan Harbor, is quickly becoming a favorite wedding spot for Lake County couples who are looking for a picturesque view, good food and service.

"Service comes first with us," said General Manager Joe Dora, who is also a partner in the hotel. "If we don't serve it right, we don't charge for it. That's a difficult statement to make but it is one that we stand behind."

The hotel offers two settings for receptions and wedding ceremonies—a formal ballroom and glass atrium with a view of the harbor.

"We do a lot of candlelight ceremonies in that room," said Hoffman. "We can do chapel-style weddings for up to 100 people in-house."

In an effort to make each couple's wedding as unique as possible the Holiday Inn Harborside places only two restrictions on decorating, no nails or glitter.

"It is important that a couple be able to make their wedding ceremony and reception as unique to them as they desire," said Hoffman. "This is their day and we try to do whatever we can to make it memorable and perfect. We try to anticipate the needs of a bride before she needs to ask for assistance."

Harborside extends their quality service beyond setting up for the reception and takes that philosophy with them into the dining room where they serve up great food at reasonable prices.

"Our prices are easily five dollars a plate less expensive than most Lake County establishments," said Hoffman. "Brides can choose buffet or hand-served meals with the white glove treatment."

Dinner buffet requires a minimum of 30 people and range from a basic buffet at $10.95 per plate to the prime rib buffet at $17.95 per plate.

Hand-served dinners range from $10.95 to $14.95 a plate. All may be accompanied by a wide selection of cold and hot hors d'oeuvres that may also be served by waiters or in a buffet style.

"We can arrange as many details as the couple desires," said Hoffman. "If they desire recommendations for florist, bands and other accompanying needs we can provide those and arrange their service and set-up to facilitate the wedding schedule. Our goal is to make sure each detail is handled as efficiently as possible."

Location and atmosphere are priceless features Harborside can offer its guests.

"We are the only full-service hotel in the area doing wedding receptions and ceremonies," said Hoffman. "Along with their booking, the bride and groom receive an executive king room for the evening and we will reserve rooms for their guests."

"It has become a great advantage for us," said Dora. "People can stay here overnight and there is no worry of traveling from the location of the reception to lodging overnight. Special considerations are offered to wedding guests as well."

Harborside has been averaging 90 weddings a year and the staff feels it's experience and planning that make them so successful.

"The main thing is proper planning," said Hoffman. "We are experienced at it and we know how to do a wedding well. For most couples, it is the first wedding they have planned. ## Service makes bride's wedding

When Tracie Sullivan became engaged in September she and her fiancé, Randy, knew that they wanted a Thanksgiving-time ceremony but they also wanted an elegant wedding to remember. With only two months to plan for the event, Tracie knew she had her work cut-out for her.

"We looked at a couple of places but when we came to Harborside, we knew this was the right place," said Tracie, a Winthrop Harbor resident. "We were impressed with the way we were treated right from the beginning. Service came first."

Tracie had in mind an inside garden-party type of wedding. The Harborside atrium, with its view of the indoor pool and floor-length glass windows overlooking the harbor, provided the perfect setting for her ceremony and reception.

Tracie and Randy also wanted a location where lodging was available for their guests. Harborside met their criteria.

"The pool area is really unique," said Tracie. "I liked the windows overlooking the harbor and the garden-area."

Choosing Harborside in late September, Tracie said it was the detail-oriented service provided by Diane Hoffman, catering manager, that ensured every detail was in place in time for the Nov. 28 ceremony.

"Whenever I called, Diane was available to answer my questions," said Tracie. "She was very helpful and was able to provide suggestions for how we could incorporate some of my ideas into the wedding ceremony and reception. Diane did and got everything I needed or asked for to make my wedding special. She even anticipated items that I hadn't thought of and helped me with those. She was great."

One of the items, Hoffman helped Tracie acquire was a large ice sculpture that was placed in the fountain.

"I think what impressed me the most about the planning process was their flexibility," said Tracie. "They were receptive to all my ideas and let me decorate the room as I wanted. Most places, put a lot of restrictions on you. Here I was really able to make the setting reflect my taste."

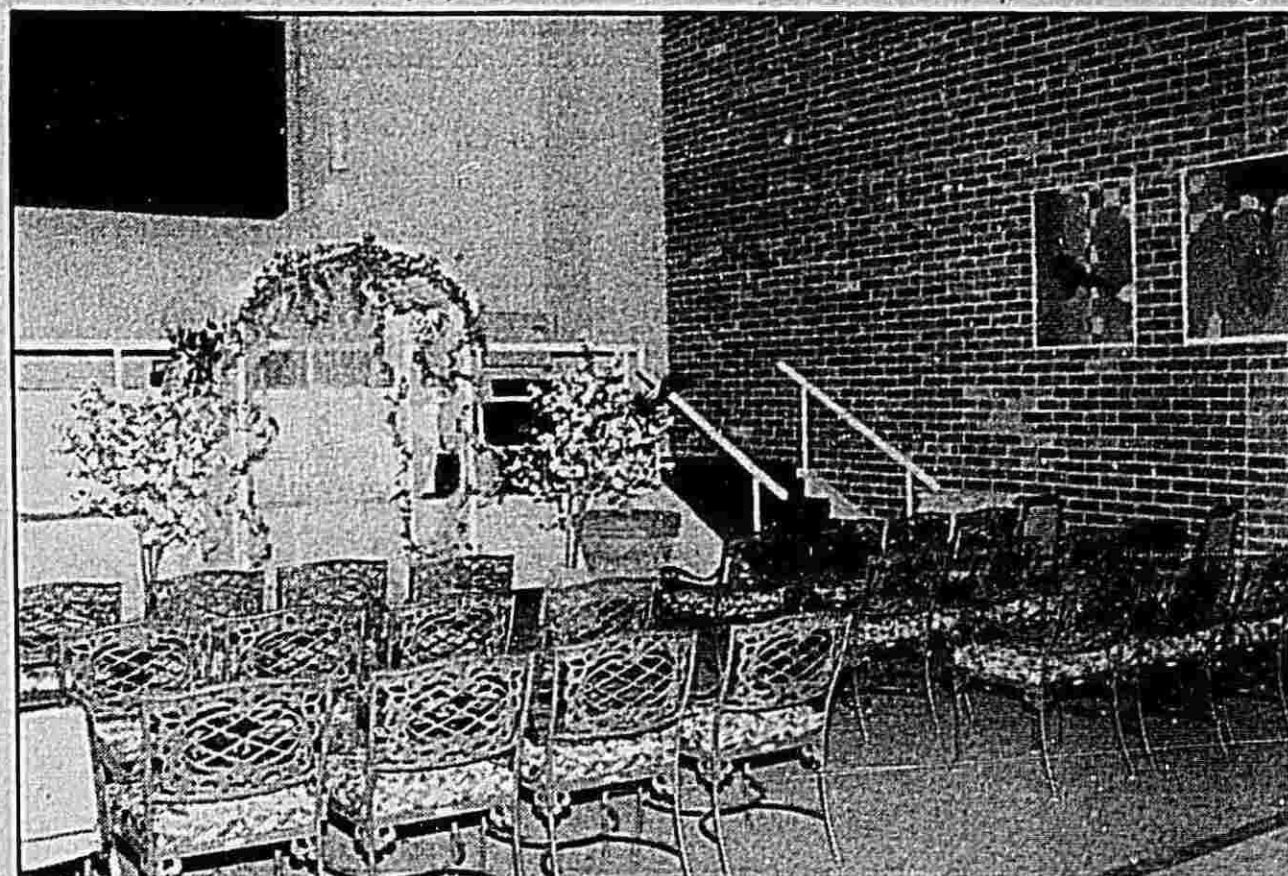

Randy and Tracie debated about what to serve on their special day. At Harborside's invitation they came for dinner a few weeks before the ceremony to sample the menu.

"We had the prime rib and decided it was definitely what we wanted to serve," said Tracie. "It is probably the best prime rib I have had. During the reception, I got so many compliments on the food from our guests."

Tracie wanted a hand-served dinner but was anxious about getting her 180 guest served quickly. "They served all of us in 20 minutes," said Tracie. "It was great. Another thing that impressed me about the food, was the service. Chef Christopher Schend was a big help. He talked to me that day before everyone was there, to make sure I had ordered enough hors d'oeuvres and that everything was set."

Having been married once previously, Tracie knew first-hand the types of problems that can upset a special day.

"Nothing went wrong. Everything was absolutely beautiful," said Tracie. "The staff here was great. They were available throughout the day of the wedding to assist in any way possible. I could not of had a more beautiful wedding."

Divorced parents and planning your wedding day

Saying "I do" brings joy, fear and excitement to every bride and groom. But when you are the child of divorced parents, your joys may be confusing, your fears heightened, and your excitement tempered with anxiety.

A parent's divorce leaves an indelible mark on the children who experience it. Ambivalent feelings about commitment, self-reliance, and intimacy often resurface during their own engagement and first year of marriage.

Barbara Tober and Claire Berman, authors of A Hole in My Heart: Adult Children of Divorce Speak Out, led six couples in a discussion of what children of divorce fear most. Here, their biggest concerns about weddings and marriage:

One big happy family? Wedding planning can go from demanding to disastrous when mom and dad don't act as a harmonious unit. The desires of the bride and groom may be drowned out by family and step-family conflict.

"Everyone wonders who said what to whom, where loyalties lie," said Berman.

Rather than being dismayed by unrealistic expectations—how a "normal" family should behave and what a joyous celebration is supposed to be like—Tober suggested that couples consider their engagement a rehearsal for real life. "Dealing with difficult wedding-planning issues will help you cope with more serious obstacles down the line."

Doing the right thing. Their parents' divorces had shaken several couples' faith in marriage.

Dana, for example, lacked confidence in her ability to choose the right partner. "Since my parents had obviously made such poor choices, I wondered how I could ever make a commitment to someone," she said.

Celeste's mother was married and divorced several times. "I want to know someone completely before I get married, so I can make the right choice the first time."

Although such caution may be prudent, it also can become a burden to the other partner, who may feel that he or she is constantly being tested to prove trustworthiness.

Declarations of independence. Jodi's father left her mother with two kids, a house, a mortgage and no way to support them all. She is afraid of being left, too. "When Rich tries to help with anything, I insist on doing it myself. I overcame my fear of abandonment by making sure I could stand on my own."

Berman pointed out that her fear had to do with issues of intimacy and sharing. "It's a question of how close you let someone get to you. Women who have seen their mothers get out of a bad relationship are more confident that they can survive without men. On the negative side, though, children of divorce don't always grow up with a model of how to fight a good fight and hang in there."

Fear of failing. Many children of divorce are apprehensive about the future. "I thought my parents were happy -- then my father moved out," says Sarah, an engaged 25-year-old woman. Trust is essential to any marriage, and it can be gained with time and communication, according to Berman.

She reminded the couple that they are neither destined to walk in their parents' shoes, nor to repeat the same mistakes. Dana agreed. "I think we have an edge," she said. "Children of divorce come into marriage with their eyes open, ready to talk."

How getting married affects friendships

You may be doing something unforgivable in the eyes of your single friends: Getting married. By being sensitive to those close to you who may be envious or fearful of losing you, you can dispel guilt feelings for your own happiness and work to strengthen your friendships. Here are some suggestions about how you can stabilize the many types of "friendships" that occur when you marry.

Extra attention

The neglected friend. With two career schedules to juggle and limited time to spend together, most newlyweds find it difficult to justify going out with single friends alone. Even staunch allies may feel deserted or relegated to the sidelines. If two friends are single and one marries, the single person often takes stock of her situation and feels left behind, even though she's happy her friend is moving on.

What's important to the continuity of the friendship is for both of you to explain the pulls that you are experiencing.

Even a 10-minute phone call or short note can appease hurt feelings. Then, when your newlywed life is settled, be sure your friend knows how much his or her patience was appreciated.

The jealous friend. The "man shortage" has created its share of acute spinsterphobia among single women. Your plans may make them feel jealous, even hostile, from the moment you announce your engagement. But recognizing the reasons behind those feelings can help keep them to a minimum. Hauling out your gifts may have brought shouts of glee at your 14th birthday party, but your friend might now interpret a display of wedding gifts as showy or bragging. Instead of dwelling on your glorious future with the man of your dreams, focus on your friend's ideas, new job, or mutual hobbies. Renew the interests that brought you together as friends originally.

Seeking space

The valuable new friend. In time, the protective shell that newlywed couples usually build around each other falls away, and they become more objective about marriage and their spouses. The husband and wife realize that they can't fulfill each other's every need, so they begin to seek out other people to enjoy interests and hobbies that their spouse doesn't share—a passion for ballet, or a penchant for flea markets. Your outings can enrich your marriage, and you'll return home full of energy, enthusiasm and new experiences to relate.

The venerable old friend. Reviving an old friendship can also fill a need for continuity in your life. Friends often share a history that predates the couple's relationship: Good times you had in the "old neighborhood," or memories of one of your parents who's no longer alive. Reminiscing over old photographs and stories with your husband won't be quite the same, because he wasn't there. Your friend was.

Accepting change

The "nothing in common" denominator. It's important to understand that while friendships are valuable, drifting apart is also a part of life's process. Interests and needs are constantly being honed, and turning points such as marriage lead you to pay more attention to relationships that enrich you.

If, despite differences in your lives, you still want to hold on to a good friend, make a concentrated effort to appreciate each other's life choices, needs and interests. It doesn't hurt to admit that while you love your spouse, you envy your friend's plans to tour Japan, begin a new career in a distant city, or devote time to a political group. Chances are, that friend craves a part of your world as well, and you can reinforce satisfaction with your choices by admitting that each lifestyle is appealing.

'A Few Good Men' of Navy save the Marines in this fine movie

Courtroom procedures have fascinated the movie-going public ever since Spencer Tracy and Frederick March stole the show in "Inherit the Wind."

For guaranteed success, the film industry powers that be put together a fine script, one of Hollywood's best and most versatile directors, three top stars, plus a bevy of great supporting actors, to come up with one of this or any year's best movies.

The hit stage play, "A Few Good Men," has been transformed into a top drawer film by director/producer Rob Reiner.

The true story concerns the trial of two Marines accused of murdering a fellow Marine during a "Code Red," correction ritual at the Navy base in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Tom Cruise proves again that he's not only a pretty face, but also one of the finest actors Hollywood has to offer. He plays a young Navy lawyer appointed to defend the Marines and, in doing so, he finds himself.

Jack Nicholson interprets the choice part of the Marine colonel responsible for the entire situation with mastery. This is Nicholson at his best and that's as good as they come!

In the script, Cruise is battling the imposing image of his lawyer father just as the cross-play between Cruise and Nicholson resembles a battle between two actors of different generations.

Demi Moore plays another Navy lawyer who is responsible for getting Cruise to rise to the legal occasion.

The supporting cast headed by Kevin Bacon and Kiefer Sutherland stay on the same top level as the three stars.

This one keeps the audience on the edge of their seats from beginning to end.

Jack Nicholson, Tom Cruise

The cross examination of Nicholson by Cruise is one of best scenes to be put on film. Look for the names of the flick, the director and also Cruise and Nicholson to be bandied about seriously during Academy Award time.

We give this five out of five stars. It's powerful, it's riveting, it goes all the way.—by GLORIA DAVIS

One-man show a special event

Not often does a hip banjo-playing folklorist come to town, so the arrival of Stephen Wade and his one-man show "On the Way Home," is a special event.

His is a personal, intimate brand of story-telling, whether he's recreating a piece from Mark Twain about slaves escaping to freedom, reviving a Davy Crockett tale or spinning a yarn of his own devising about growing up in the Windy City.

With an impish dimple-faced grin, Wade lovingly strums out a Hobart Smith song. He recalls his earliest experiences with stringed instruments and how he had to convince his father he wanted an electric guitar so he could master Segovia when '50s and '60s rock 'n roll was his real attraction.

From the moment he picks up a five-stringed banjo, "happy accidents," as he aptly puts it, begin to occur. This energetic man not only provides the essential music, he also presents a running narration and accompanies himself with a bit of clog dancing at the same time.

Chicago's Halsted Street Theater, where Wade performs through Jan. 3, is a fine forum for Wade's friendly, folksy and soul-stirring, but never dull, music. For tickets call (312) 348-0110.—by TOM WITOM

Ride the rails to the slopes!

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

There are a couple of ways to get to Colorado's Winter Park ski resort.

You can fight the traffic to O'Hare Field, try and find a parking space, rush to check your skis, and run another two miles to your gate for the flight to Denver. At Denver, you claim your luggage and take a two-hour bus ride to the ski resort. Feel rested and ready to ski? Let's explore another way.

Last week, I took the 1:02 Metra train from Grayslake to Chicago's Union Station and walked about 100 feet to my Amtrak train to Winter Park, Colorado. A "Red Cap" took my luggage to my sleeping car. We left Chicago at 2:55 p.m. and arrived right at Winter Park the next morning, relaxed and ready to ski. Some members of my group were on the slopes within 45 minutes of arriving!

So you ask, wasn't that long train ride boring? Not on your life! As I mentioned, I did have sleeping accommodations. While you can sleep in a coach seat, I would recommend paying the extra money for a private room. Not only do you have a comfortable bed with meals included, but the little extras of being served coffee, juice and a newspaper in bed make my day.

You also have a whole train to "play" on. Your meals are prepared fresh on the train and served in a comfortable dining car. My favorite place was the sightseer lounge, rather than watching the movies (shown twice a day). I enjoyed looking out the large picture windows at the magnificent scenery. From Denver to Winter Park, we saw deer, mountain sheep and went through 29 tunnels - one over six miles long!

Next week, I'll report on what Winter Park has to offer and even why one of the mountains at Winter Park is named "Mary Jane."

Folk singers present concert with Great Lakes music theme

Folk singers Tom and Chris Kastle will perform a children's concert of folk songs at Waukegan's Stage Two on Sat., Jan. 9. Shows will be at 10 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. for young people and their families. Tickets are $3 each.

The Kastles combine old journals, field recordings and notes for songs and stories of traditional and contemporary Great Lakes music with maritime themes. For over six years the Kastles have served as regular crew aboard traditionally rigged wooden vessels such as the 1888 schooner Charlotte Ann. Their insight provides a special performance highlighted by sensitivity and humor. Using both history and first-hand experience, they tell the story of the people who work and sail the waterways of the Great Lakes.

Resolving to escape stress at 'face value'

I resolve to be more patient. I Resolve To Be More Patient! I RESOLVE TO BE MORE PATIENT!

Patience, my boy. Resolving to be patient and actually following through on the resolution are two different animals. The first and foremost step you need to accomplish is to reduce stress. When things get tight and you want to explode, you often try not to. Though you may try to hide that anxiety by "grinning and bearing it," the tension will be written all over your face—unless you properly care for your skin.

Stress can aggravate and even trigger many inflammatory skin conditions.

Dermatologists have proven that, over time, stress reduces your body's immunity to certain bacteria, upsets your skin's natural balance and increases the production of skin oil. According to Diane Berson, M.D., a dermatologist at New York University's School of Medicine, "When the body is under stress, it often responds by releasing hormones that activate oil glands which can cause breakouts."

Stress-related skin conditions can be triggered by nervous tensions at work or at home. Nervous scratching, caused by anxiety, along with perspiration can result in irritated skin. Women are also more susceptible to breakouts and other changes in their skin around the time of their menstrual cycle and during pregnancy.

Tough economic times and shorter, busier days leave you with little time to care for yourself after caring for your family. Today's woman needs to make smart choices about products for an inexpensive, quick skin care routine. Beautiful skin does not have to cost a fortune or take a lot of time. Dr. Berson offers these tips on how to care for and avoid stress-related skin conditions:

- It's especially important during stressful times to make facial care part of your daily routine. Be sure to wash your face thoroughly and moisturize as needed.
- To care for a mild case of acne, apply benzoyl peroxide to affected areas, avoiding eyes.

- Find ways to relax and try to avoid stressful situations. To release pent-up tension, take a relaxing walk, soak in a hot bath or listen to soothing music.

- To open pores and remove impurities, treat yourself to an in-home mini-facial. Dip a washcloth in warm water; wring out and drape over your face. After five minutes, wash your face with a mild cleanser and rinse with cool water. This is a great way to relax after a long day of work.

"It is always important to cleanse daily, moisturize as your skin requires and get plenty of rest—especially during times of stress," says Dr. Berson.

Don't hibernate: Be winter wise, exercise

Hibernation can be a health hazard. In fact, physical inactivity—especially when coupled with extra eating during the winter holiday months—can lead to obesity and high blood cholesterol, which are risk factors for heart disease.

So one word of winter wisdom: exercise.

Exercise alone can't prevent or cure heart attack or stroke. But it can help reduce the risk of developing them and improve your chance of surviving them. It can decrease your blood pressure, weight and triglyceride level. And it can increase your level of high density lipoproteins, known as "good" cholesterol, which may carry cholesterol out of blood vessels.

Exercise can also help you feel, look and work better. It can improve your circulation and your ability to breathe. And you can better fight anxiety, stress and depression related to winter weather and holidays.

These are some of the reasons why the American Heart Association suggest you exercise aerobically at least 30 to 60 minutes three times a week. Your workout should be at moderate intensity over a continuous period, though levels vary according to condition and health.

Antioch riverboat site survives sixth public hearing

by THOMAS STEVENS

Lakeland Newspapers

Despite a standing-room only crowd in the Antioch Lower Grade School gymnasium, the Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership survived its sixth public hearing in its attempt to place a casino in the Chain O' Lakes area.

Antioch residents, both for and against the casino site on the Fox River near Ill. Rte. 173, crammed into the ALGS gym to get questions answered.

"From the people I've talked to, they want information," said Antioch Twp. Supervisor Jim Fields. That is why this meeting was called, to answer questions.

A group of township residents calling themselves Against Riverboat Casino, are opposed to the increased traffic and congestion, both on Rte. 173 and the river, that would accompany the building of the gaming site.

"We just want our public officials to hear us," said Roy Sackschewsky, who only lives 100 feet off the Fox River. "We still are not being heard, despite our attempts to reason with both local and county government officials."

Ironically, Fields, who also holds a seat on the Lake County Board, is up for township re-election in April, and some residents are angry that he voted for the county casino twice, before scheduling the Dec. 29 public hearing in Antioch. The crowd often booed at his comments.

The marathon public meeting occurred more than a week after the Lake County Board voted 11-9 in favor of the Antioch site, which now awaits approval from the Illinois Gaming Commission in Springfield for selection of the last of 10 floating casino licenses. The Antioch group is in competition with Elgin, West Dundee, Moline, and Sauget for that final state license. The Lake County Board will be the governing body if a state license is granted because the land is in unincorporated Lake County, about three miles from Antioch.

The partnership used a 45 minute video and slide presentation to describe how the gaming site would benefit the area and turn opposition into support.

Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership Chairman Glenn Seidenfeld gave several strong reasons for the residents of Lake County to support the Antioch site.

First, according to Seidenfeld, was the economic stability and jobs the site would bring. Out of the 1,000 jobs the partnership would need to run the gaming operation alone, 390 would be full-time personnel making in-excess of $20,000 a year, including medical insurance.

Seidenfeld said that the primary area for hiring these jobs would be Lake County and McHenry County residents, with the minority and women mix of those jobs being that of the area.

Also, Seidenfeld added, there would be an indirect increase in jobs and business in the entire Chain O' Lakes region as people travel from all over the tri-state area to gamble on the boats.

"We are targeting a different type of person than those who frequent other gaming sites," said Seidenfeld. "With a reservation and a $18 cover charge, in addition to the $5-$10 minimum bet, only wealthy patrons will be able to afford to attend."

"This is only the beginning of a long and involved process. We are local people and will do the best we can to answer all local concerns," said Partnership President Mitch Saranow.

But probably most beneficial to the area, according to Seidenfeld and other key supporters of the site, would be the return of tourism to the area.

"Although my religious convictions tell me that gambling is wrong," said Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton. "I feel the possibility of tourism, increased sales tax, and potential jobs can only benefit our community. Antioch has always been and will forever remain a priority to me."

Both sides now wait until June or July to hear the final site of riverboat gambling.

Libraries get more than $4 million in state grants

More than 170 libraries throughout suburban Chicago will receive approximately $4 million in general purpose per capita grants this year. The largest grant of $118,534 will go to Schaumburg Twp. District Library.

In addition to the per capita grants, the North Chicago Public Library will receive $22,470 in equalization grants. Equalization grants are given when local property taxes are not adequate to fund local public libraries at state minimum standards.

Libraries receiving grants in Lake County are: Antioch Public Library Dist., $16,420; Barrington Public Library Dist., $36,246; Fox Lake Public Library Dist., $14,697; Grayslake Area Public Library Dist., $8,578; Warren-Newport Library Dist., $34,253; Lake Villa Public Library Dist., $19,725; Elia Area Public Library Dist., $20,545; Cook Memorial Library Dist., $45,104; Vernon Area Public Library Dist., $32,226; Fremont Public Library Dist., $18,925; North Chicago Public Library, $33,229 and $22,470 in equalization; Wauconda Area Public Library Dist., $15,701.

Richmond election petitions await

Just two petition packets for next spring's Richmond municipal elections have been taken out and both of them were picked up by former trustee Kevin Brusek.

"Hopefully, after the first of the year, everybody will get serious and take out petitions," Village Clerk Kate Hellmann said.

Six spots — village president, clerk and four trustees — will be filled by voters in April.

Hellmann said incumbent President Bruce Hunter has indicated his intention to run again, while Hellmann herself will seek her fourth term.

Trustees Kurt Carlson and Andre Ryland will sit this one out — their terms don't expire until 1995. Terms will expire for trustees Clint Bell, Dan Deters, Susan Klouda and Doug Young. Deters was appointed to finish a two-year term.

"No one has said they won't run," Hellmann said of the current trustees.

Hellmann added that Brusek didn't divulge the office he or the other person would seek with the two petitions.

The filing period will be Feb. 1-8.

Committee formed to elect Holmes

Antioch resident Vern Holmes, an outspoken critic of Antioch School District 117, now has a committee formed to help him reach his goal of being elected to a seat on the ACHS school board next November.

According to a release distributed by the group, Holmes believes voters should vote no to the proposed April 20 referendum that would bring the school district out of debt.

"This referendum is not out of actual need, but rather due to gross mismanagement of the school financing and internal deception of the people of the district," said Holmes.

To contact the committee, write to Committee to elect Vern Holmes, P.O. Box 460, Antioch, Ill. 60002 or call 395-0589.

Antioch youngster's mishap funds a happy ending

Doing fine

Hank, Joni, Dana and Steven Gliewicz are feeling truly blessed and extra happy as we enter into 1993. Last month little Steven was attacked by a dog and for a short time they were not sure what lasting damages the dog bites would leave. While it was a very traumatic experience for Steven and he will be left with some scars, it appears that his eyesight will not be affected as they originally thought and they are all very grateful for this positive outcome.

Joni, Hank, Dana and little Steven want to thank everyone for their tremendous support during this trying time. They will always remember the loving kindness of the Grass Lake School Administration, teachers and office staff. Steve will always remember the cards that his kindergarten teacher, Norma Rubash, had all of his classmates make especially for him. He was also overwhelmed when principal, Ginny Mann, showed up at the hospital to visit him. It was quite an ordeal for a little five-year-old to handle, but he got through it, as did his mom, dad and sister, because of the love, concern and care bestowed on them by many.

Park programs

Just a reminder that the Antioch Parks and Recreation Department has many fine programs available for people of all ages. Due to popular demand, the men's basketball league is back. Participants must be 18 years old and older. There will be two leagues made up of six teams each and due to the limited space, no mail registration will be taken for this program, only walk in registration beginning on Jan. 5.

Registration will be held at the park's office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Games will be played in the AUGS gymnasium. Priority spaces will be given to returning teams and space is limited, so register ASAP.

An eight-week calligraphy class will be held for adults 18 years and older beginning Jan. 18.

Dads and daughters (ages three years and over). Do not miss the second annual "Daddy Daughter" Date Night. All tickets must be purchased in advance and the deadline for registration is Feb. 7 at 5 p.m. It is a fantastic, memorable, dress-up evening of dancing, music and munchies for daddy and his little or big girl.

The fee is $10 per couple and if dad is truly blessed with more than one daughter, there is only a $3 charge for each additional daughter. That would cost daddy Schmehl only $16 if he were to go and bring his three young ladies. I think Donna, Barbara and Karen should put the pressure on. The date of this gala affair is Feb. 13 just in time for a special Valentine remembrance.

If you have a skill or hobby you would like to share with others, Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept. is always in the market for enthusiastic people to teach classes. Call the parks department at 395-2160 and ask for Carol Todd to receive more detailed information on all of the programs offered by the department.

Little artist

Congratulations are in order for little five-year-old, Rebecca McCarthy, who won the second prize in the Advertiser Holiday Coloring Contest. She did her very best and was rewarded with a "Beauty of the Beast" tape for her fine efforts.

Congratulations, honey, and keep on coloring and drawing as something tells me you will grow up to be an artist.

Special day

Once again the Camp

Crayon Christmas parties offered a lot of fun and excitement for everyone. As the little ones arrived, most of them decked out in the special holiday attire, the anticipation of a fun day was written on their happy faces. Each one readily handed over their special grab bag gift to be placed under the tree for disbursement during the traditional grab bag game.

Adding to the festivities was a visit by Mary Ellen Casey, a former Camp Crayon mom. She stopped by to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and to deliver a beautiful hand-made Christmas card designed for the staff by her daughter, Alyssa, who is now in kindergarten. After a short play time with Christmas carols playing softly in the background, the children gathered in the activity circle to sing Christmas songs accompanied by Miss Liz on her electronic keyboard (what a woman).

Then the delicious treats were passed out filling the individual treat bags to capacity. Now came the big moment—the grab bag game. After each child won a gift he/she waited patiently for the "grand opening." By this time, most parents had arrived and were able to watch the children taking turns to open a gift-wrapped treasure. All of the children were very happy and excited over the gifts they received.

However, special mention must go to little Zachary Garcia who literally jumped out of his seat with excitement over receiving a Nurf football, exclaiming "Just what I always wanted!" That said it all and his excitement mimicked what every adult feels when we see that type of joy and excitement on the little ones faces. As the children filed out to begin the Christmas break, we wished them a safe and happy holiday, reminding them that we would be seeing them in the New Year.

Gift of love

My daughter, Donna, made me two beautifully decorated holiday sweat-shirts. I make mention of this here in order that you understand and are aware that most of her creative ideas turn out really great. When she arrived with the finished product, she brought another unexpected gift item. She carried it in a bag and before she presented it to me, she felt an explanation was in order.

She went on to say that in the bag was a pair of tennis shoes which she hand painted and decorated for Christmas. I was anxious to see them but she was not quite ready for the unveiling.

The catch was, when her ideas were transposed from her mind to the shoe's canvas, the end result was considerably different from what she had envisioned. In her opinion (and words) they were "extremely" ugly. I told her they couldn't be that bad and when she pulled them from the sack the words "Oh no, she's right" came to mind. She definitely knew "ugly" when she saw it! However, the Christmas season is supposed to be one of joy and memorable moments. I knew I would get a lot of joy in wearing this gift of love. Something also told me wearing the shoes would produce many "memorable moments."

Description

This is what those now "infamous" tennis shoes look like. First of all they are big, as the Lizard is far from a dainty person. Secondly, to say they were bright and colorful is an understatement. Actually people could see me coming from six miles away. Talk about Rudolph lighting the way for Santa, during a black out I could moonlight a beacon for airplanes at O'Hare.

They are decorated with red, green and gold metallic paint (a lot of gold metallic paint). As these colors all zig zagged and looped together, the theme sort of echoed these thoughts "looks like Donna found a way to get even with mom after all of these years!" Thanks for letting me tease you, Donna. I guarantee you I will treasure the shoes always and they will be a part of my traditional holiday attire until they bite the dust.

Get well

A get well wish is in order for Peg McCarthy, a former Antioch area resident. Peg lived in Oakwood Knolls for many years before moving to Arizona. She was struck by a car and was in Scottsdale Memorial Hospital with extensive injuries. Her family asks that we please remember her in their prayers in order that she has a full and a speedy recovery. If you know Peg and would like to send her a personal get well wish, call me and I will get her address for you.

Terrific dancers

Bear with me as I tell a Christmas story—after Christmas. This holiday season we often played Christmas songs on the cassette player at Camp Crayon. However, on a couple of occasions we decided to take things one step further than just listening to and singing along with the tapes. During circle time we would tell the children to choose a partner and we would dance to the snappy tunes. Some of the girls picked a boy partner, and others danced alone or with another girl.

Along the same lines, some of the boys picked a girl partner, while others danced a solo routine or with their best buddy. The girls and boys also came up to Miss Marie, Miss Mary, Miss Donna or myself and asked us to be their partner and vice versa. There were only a few children who simply chose to watch all the action and even they were clapping their hands or stomping their feet to the music.

It proved to be a wonderful, fun experienced for young and old alike. We were all united by the common bond of music and dance, not a care in the world except to enjoy the moment and enjoy each other's company to the fullest.

Witt

Honor seven times. This award, according to Witt, is given to those agents who are the most profitable in all lines of insurance.

According to Witt, State Farm insures more autos and homes than any other company and ranks in the top ten for Life and health insurance.

"State Farm is the only insurance company to receive the highest rating in all four categories," said Witt, who is proud to be a State Farm agent.

Witt, who has been an Antioch resident since 1963, is a member of the Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church and has served the community in a variety of positions.

Witt lives in the village with his wife Judy, while his four adult children, Michael, Mitchell, Martin and Tracy, graduated through the Antioch school system and now live in California and Washington D.C.

Hotels

The developers have been approved by two hotel companies — Best Western and Choice International. The later company franchises Comfort Suites and Quality Inns.

The hotel will include a restaurant, business center, conference rooms, swimming pool and other amenities. A small dinner theater also may be included.

Two hurdles were crossed by the developers with an agreement with the Lake County Highway Department and the Village of Fox Lake.

The developers will pay their share to construct the entrance to the hotel near the intersection of State Park and Grass Lake roads. To the developers' advantage, the construction will be incorporated in the county's plans for improvements on State Park Road. An automatic traffic signal will be part of the changes.

Believing the cost per unit for water and sewer hook-ups would be the same as per home, the developers had sought concessions from the village. Although the village won't give free hook-ups, the developers will be charged for connection on a water-consumption basis.

If the water consumption from 100 hotel units is equal to that in 50 houses, the developers will pay a connection fee totaling what 50 homeowners would pay.

"It's predicated on flow," the spokesman said. "It's something we can live with."

Rather than starting construction this spring, the developers will wait until water and sewer is available and the roads are upgraded. And, they'll keep an eye on the riverboat situation. A summer construction start could be the best plan.

"By waiting, we'll have a better perspective on what's happening in the area," the spokesman said.

Heaven Bound?

I'm taking a survey and I would like responses from people out there. I would like to know is how would one get to heaven. Could I have some responses.

Poor Mathematics

This is for the person who responded to "Pay Overtime." First of all, I don't know where you got 40 hours for a snow removal person because a majority of the guys working for the village are only making an average of $12 per hour, which includes working overtime for removing snow in the beach. Why would the mayor what to pay $65 per hour when he's only paying a majority of his guys $12 per hour? Also, your talking about me being the wife of an employee? What are you to the mayor, a relative?

We Won't Go There

Mayor Dick Welton of Gurnee is proposing to build a Welton's Village Market in Grayslake. As a citizen of Grayslake, I am opposed to this because Mayor Welton used the power of his office to create an urban slum in his village to further himself and his family financially. Let him keep his slum within the confines of his own village. My family will not utilize his store. We do not want his kind in Grayslake.

Younger Ideas Are Better

How about some younger ideas? Everyone that runs for politics in Antioch always state, "I've lived in Antioch for 100 years." This is supposed to mean something because they've been here for many years? After all, the same old people running time and again because they are older think they are owed offices. Let's try some younger people with younger ideas.

Change Their Attitude

I'm calling from Round Lake, Illinois. I would like to suggest that the judges who have to deal with these Ku Klux Klan people sentence them to five years of living in Somalia. And find out just find out what those people have to contend with. I'm sure they will have a far different attitude. If that don't wake them up, hang them from a streetpost.

No Reason To Discriminate

I would like to express my opinion about the Libertyville KKK incident. I go to Antioch High School, and the racism that goes on in that school is unbelievable. No matter what your color is, you're still a person. There's no reason that anyone should be discriminated against.

Listen Up, Mr. Man!

This is for Mr. "Women Want One Thing." I was feeling a little sympathetic for you, until I got to the last couple of sentences of the paragraph. "All they want is someone with the first three so they don't have to work and can sit around all day and have babies." Are you saying that staying home all day with children isn't work? If you're saying that isn't work, you've got another thing coming. I challenge you to stay home and have babies. That doesn't mean sit around with some kids for a few hours. That means to do it full time, every day, all the time. You'll see what work really is. I don't feel sympathetic after reading those sentences.

No Complaints, Just Info

I'm not calling to cry, whine or anything. I'm just calling to pass on information to the person from Mundelein who would like to know where to go cross country skiing. I would suggest Ryerson Woods or Lakewood Forest Preserve. Thank you.

Mundelein Road Problems

I'm from Mundelein and I'm tired about Mundelein not waking up to all the problems it has, especially the traffic problems it has at Rte. 83 and Mundelein Road. C'mon, Mundelein, wake up and do something about the traffic congestion on this road. It's terrible. You need to resolve this problem. More homes are being built and the problem is going to get worse. Work with the state to resolve this problem.

It's No Picnic, Buster!

I'd like to respond to the man who said that women only want men for security, good looks and great personality. He said he has the last of the three. I doubt it. I want to tell this buster that I've got two daughters who have worked like fools and have seven children between them. Women who have children are not lazy and staying home. They work hard. When God appointed women to bare children, he knew the right gender to assign it to. Women who stay home don't just sit around and have babies. It is a rough life. I want to tell you that I'm a mother and grandmother. I go to help my daughters. She doesn't have time to breath.

What About Rte. 83?

I keep reading in Lipservice about the need to widen Rte. 22 and now Rte. 45. Doesn't anyone think that Rte. 83 needs to be widened? Particularly Rte. 83 and 60 at Midlothian Road. The backlog that jams up there every morning. It almost backs up from Midlothian all the way to Hawley. All roads in Illinois need to be widened to handle the traffic. Let's elect officials that will do something.

Rezone Own Neighborhood

I'm a resident from the Orchard Subdivision and I would like to give you my opinion on the rezoning of land at Ela Road and Rte. 12 from residential to commercial. My family and I feel the same way that this would be a disservice to the Lake Zurich community and put more dollars in the pockets in a man who is uninterested in corporate citizenry. Thank you.

Invite You To See Them

I'm calling from Wauconda, the unofficial town of Christmas crosses. Two years ago when a threatened lawsuit by Rob Sherman forced us to remove our crosses from our water tower, individuals took it upon themselves to put them on their own lawns. Now, we have literally thousands of crosses on lawns, windows, in trees, and I want to invite everyone to see them. Drive through Wauconda and share in the holiday spirit.

Riverboats Won't Fit

Did anyone ever think about how narrow that river is, and at one point, two boats can't even navigate safely going in different directions. How are they going to put in a big riverboat in that stretch of river safety for other boaters? Will they close off the river so nobody else can use it? I think that's unfair.

Nice Plate You Have There

It's very, very pleasant to see that the Round Lake Park Police Chief's car now has a front license plate. After about six months and numerous calls to Lipservice, government municipalities and the mayor, I guess it did help. I hope they'll start enforcing the law around here and giving tickets to people who have only one plate on their car.

Germany Part II

I'm calling from Fox Lake and I've got a few comments. First, to the lady who wonders why local governments have to pay for the removal of village symbols and slogans from signs and whatnot. Maybe it's because the village spent money in the first place to put them there. Public money was used to put them there, public money must be used to take them away. Secondly, on the KKK incident at Libertyville High School. A lot of people are thinking that this isn't anything too big. This is the same thing that happened in Germany. Maybe we have to nip this thing in the bud by getting tough with these people.

At Least They're Working

This is for "Stop the Questions I and II." At least these people are finding a way to make money to support themselves. Rather than thinking them a nuisance, if you stop and talk them, you'll find that they often give money. In the past year, I've made more than $70 by stopping and listening to them for a moment. If you don't want to listen to them, ignore them. Don't tell them that they are a pain in the butt.

Socializing, Not Gossiping

This is for "Heavy Issue Ahead." I'm from Libertyville and I say "boo" on Weight Watchers. I also say "boo" on Tops. Those places are nothing but gossip places. I know people who went there 10 years ago to lose 12 pounds and are still going there because they like the gossip. I still think that we need a place for socializing, not for gossiping.

It's Us, Not The Chief

Little knowledge of the job. This is to the author of the good ol' boy complex. I don't know where your information came from, but it's not chief out there blanketing the village. It's the men out there in the dark blue shirts, the patrolmen and the sergeants. The chief rides a desk all day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., pushing paper. He's not out there on the street at 2 a.m., shaking doors or stopping cars in the rain or cold. It's the police officers that make the chief look good, not the other way around. I'd also like to welcome Sgt. Jones back; he's always worked hard for our family. I hope people like you or her haven't caused him to leave this village. Your comment about the Antioch Police Dept. were uncalled for. What's the matter, aren't you friends with the chief there?

'Snow' Job From The Mayor

This is in response to the person who called about the mayor of Round Lake Beach paying a snow removal crew instead of the village's own crew. Why did you think that he was getting it done for less? I researched this and was shocked to find out that the mayor and board have gotten a low bid of $65 per hour per truck, plus fuel costs. I've talked to Round Lake Beach crewmen to see what the highest and lowest paid person would make in overtime removing snow. The rate is between $25 and $12 per hour. That's an overtime rate. The Round Lake Beach crew makes about 22 percent less than the average of most villages. I would like to thank the crew for the wonderful job they do.

Christmas Spirit

Merry Christmas. I'm calling to thank all the children that went caroling in Mundelein and all the people who were generous who gave the children money. I'm calling to let people know what we did with the money. After we were done caroling, my son, daughter and I went to K-Mart. They have a tree there with names of needy children on it. We bought a present for a girl and boy. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Confused About Crosses

The caller from Vernon Hills who brought his children to Wauconda to see the crosses seemed confused by the entire issue. Crosses on private property are not a concern to Mr. Sherman. To call these crosses a slap across the face to Mr. Sherman is to say these crosses were put up in spite. Spite, we all know is a sin. Mr. Sherman is only concerned with those public displays of religion on public property, not private property. Thank you.

Time, place for caring

Great Lakes Naval Training Center holds a special place in the hearts of host families as well as all Lake County citizens.

A little known holiday ritual takes place hereabouts this time of year every season, little heralded because the participants don't express generosity for purposes of recognition even though acts of kindness occur several thousand times over. The vignettes of sharing take place in the home. Privately. Quietly.

This ritual of nearly three decades shows how one community can find it in its heart a way to help another community. The individuals have never met. They do not know each other yet their separate communities are closer than they think.

Visitors come here from far-flung places, big cities and hamlets alike. The visitors are here for a short, hectic stay before they move on. We invite them into our homes this time of year as an expression of care, understanding and pride.

What we're talking about is the tradition in hundreds of Lake County and neighboring homes where recruits from Great Lakes Naval Training center are invited into our communities for the holidays. These sons and daughters could not make it home to be with their families. We invite them into our homes to share holiday dinner and a few small gifts knowing that we have made them a little happier and a bit less lonely.

While our communities share with the Great Lakes Naval Training Center this holiday season let us not forget that Great Lakes shares with us all year long. The training center, one of the largest military bases in the nation, long has been an integral part of life in Lake County where the military and civilians alike depend on each other for mutual support and purpose.

Great Lakes has been a part of our community for 90 years. It is important that we think about the future of Great Lakes. In a world awash in a sea of change, the familiar facility that often is taken for granted might not always be with us. Friends of Great Lakes here and elsewhere can well give thought to the importance of preserving our neighbor, a local treasure and a national resource, less the sprawling facility be relegated to a future that has befallen another Lake County military monument--- Ft. Sheridan---for demobilization.

As many of our families are able to touch the lives of those at Great Lakes Naval Training Center at this holiday season, so does Great Lakes touch us throughout the year. Long may we be able to live and thrive together.

OPEN LETTER OF THANKS TO THE GREAT LAKES COMMUNITY

From Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, we extend our warmest thanks to our friendly and supportive neighbors in the Lake County and Chicagoland area who hosted recruit sailors in your homes on Thanksgiving and Christmas days. The value of this program cannot be overstated as it contributes directly to the morale and welfare of our young men during the holidays, a time that is traditionally a period of family gatherings and home activities. For many of our young sailors, Boot Camp is their first lengthy experience away from home, their first holiday period away from families and can often be depressing. Your kindness and caring in opening your homes for these young men undergoing an already stressful transition from civilian to sailor made an impact that clearly lifted their spirits. Every comment has been positive and glowing, with the only regret being "not enough time."

The recruits and students who participated were all excited about being able to go into your homes as strangers and coming back as "family." Many of their own families have contacted us expressing their thankfulness for taking such good care of their sons over the holidays. For 25 years, this community has opened its hearts and doors to our newest sailors. It is greatly appreciated and is good for not only the recruits, but the community and the Great Lakes Navy as well. Again, I wish to sincerely thank each of you for your concern and heartfelt support of our sailors. The staff, recruits and students of the Recruit Training Command and I wish you a joyous and safe holiday season.

Persisting prejudice

Don't blame schools for fostering intolerance and hate.

Neighboring schools may well look inward as the aftermath of an ugly racial incident at Libertyville High School is studied.

The student body responded soberly and maturely with the most obvious response being a petition processed through the Student Council to foster more education about racism and discrimination. The LHS administration acted responsibly by suspending three ring leaders who organized a sort of teenage version of the Ku Klux Klan along with planning special training on ignorance and insensitivity toward minorities.

What happened at Libertyville could happen anywhere. Indeed, a month earlier two racial incidents at Warren High School, a corridor fight and the burning of KKK letters on the football field, resulted in the expulsion of five students. When two Grayslake students beat a Grant High student recently after a tension-packed basketball game, administrators at both schools were quick to examine the fracas in the light of racial overtones.

Sadly, hate and discrimination are with us at all times. Outwardly, Americans profess pride in our melting-pot heritage. Inwardly, though, too many Americans harbor ill-will toward racial and religious minorities.

As a wise person once noted, children are not born to hate. They have to be taught. High school students formulate opinions and beliefs in places other than school where the learning process already is burdened with correcting social ills like sex education, drug and alcoholic abuse and the deteriorating institution of marriage. Will the mandate of so many "units" on elimination of hate and racial prejudice take its place besides driver ed and consumer education? And if so, where in the world will teachers ever find time to work on improving test scores?

Other community institutions will have to turn up a few notches efforts to foster better feelings and promote greater understanding. A good place to start is in the home. The students who were suspended certainly didn't get their off-base ideas at school. Self-evaluation on racial attitudes makes a good resolution for 1993.

When endings can become beginnings

by BILL SCHROEDER

State Rep. John Matijevich turned in his last column for his hometown newspaper, the North Chicago Tribune, for the Jan. 1 edition, ending one of the most unusual writing stints in Illinois newspaper annals. Matijevich was defeated for reelection.

The Waukegan Democrat began writing a weekly column about politics and public issues a quarter of a century ago when first elected to the Illinois General Assembly. To my knowledge, he never missed a deadline. That's a lot of columns, about 1,300 or so.

I've had the privilege of being John's editor and publisher for more than half of his association with the newspaper. From time to time, the column would appear in all 14 Lakeland Newspapers as a special political commentary. All those words and faithful adherence to deadlines aren't unusual in themselves. Here's what made the political leader's columns so unusual:

John wrote every word all those years himself!

Springfield is loaded with talented writers who sell their services to politicians so they can write columns or news releases "for the folks back home." Usually, the columns accurately reflect the thoughts and feelings of the sponsor. In my mind, though, that's a lot different that the words actually being the writer's thoughts and feelings. Like John Matijevich's columns.

We're going to miss John's weekly column just like we're sure the citizens of Lake County will miss John's experienced and fair representation in Springfield. We salute him and thank him for his dedication, both to his constituents and our readers.

After a month of rest and reflection, Matijevich said he will launch into new endeavors. The voters may have retired him from office, but he's not tired, so expect to be hearing more about the former state representative in the future.

TRY OR TRYING?---Helen Anderson, this column's Arkansas correspondent, reports that the legislature is trying to figure out how to handle the state's shortfall in the Arkansas Medicaid program that was touted as a national model during the presidential campaign. Most likely solution will be a sales tax hike that will be a tough pill to swallow, especially for retirees. Didn't the Arkansas campaigner say something about not taxing middle income Americans? Helen still is confident about the future with the former governor leading our nation. "Clinton will really try," wrote the former news writer.

*****

ANXIOUS---State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis(R-Zion) is looking forward to the start of the new General Assembly in 1993. "First time I'll be serving when there's a Republican majority," said the indefatigable lady who's been going to Springfield for 20 years. Geo-Karis said the GOP held a brief two-year majority when she was a state representative, "but that was so long ago I can hardly remember what it was like."

*****

STARTING OVER---Sig Gissler, editor of the Milwaukee Journal, is looking forward to starting a new career. Gissler, a former resident of Grayslake who began his newspaper career in Lake County, officially retired from the noted afternoon daily Dec. 31. At age 58, the veteran newsman feels he has a wide range of options. "I feel like a kid in a candy store," Gissler exclaimed.

The distinguished journalist's first newspaper job was with the Libertyville Independent-Register. Later he became a reporter with the Waukegan News-Sun and rose to executive editor. He has lived and worked in Milwaukee for 25 years. What's the one thing he wants to do most? Write. That's a newspaperman's life.

WHY A KILL?---Wildlife protectors are raising questions about the proposed deer kill planned by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. to thin out what is regarded as an over-population of deer. "What over population?" they chorus. The wildlifers are saying Supt. Dan Brouillard's figures provided commissioners to justify the kill and a recent head count made by helicopter are far apart.

The fly-over covered Ryerson Woods, McArthur Woods, Wright-Lloyd Woods and other preserve properties near Halfday and Columbia Gardens. Brouillard is providing opportunity for more public input at a meeting at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 12, at Dan Wright Middle School, Lincolnshire.

Best wrestlers show skills at Carmel's annual meet

Eric Browne

Mundelein's wrestling team has a goal in mind when the Mustangs travel cross-town Carmel for the annual Carmel New Years Eve wrestling meet Dec. 31.

"We'd like to finish in the top three," Mundelein Coach Dennis Szymkowiak said.

The meet gets underway at 9 a.m. and also includes, in addition to the Mundelein schools: Libertyville, defending class A champ Harvard, Chicago Weber, Deerfield, Highland Park and Grayslake.

At least two undefeated wrestlers will be featured, Mundelein's Eric Browne at 125 and Libertyville's Reed Christensen at heavyweight. Christensen is 14-0 and coming off a title at the Ott Bay tournament in Waukegan. Browne is 17-0, but has not wrestled since a win over previously unbeaten Joe Kearns of Grayslake two weeks ago. The Rams won the dual 38-28.

"He was pretty much in control the whole way," Szymkowiak said of Browne's 12-6 victory.

Browne, a senior, is not the only Mustang with 17 wins. Willie Norman has the same number of victories at 17-2 at heavyweight.

Also contributing to Mundelein's four wins in nine dual matches have been: junior Al Castellucci at 145 with a 14-2 record; Steve Fuller at 130 with a 10-6 mark; Chris Klein at 189 with a 12-7 record.

"Chris, Steve and Wagner are the three guys who had to do well if we were to have a good year," Szymkowiak said.

Host Carmel is led by Derrick Noble, a senior and past state qualifier, winner of his first 10 matches at 119 pounds and Jamil Swift at 140.

In addition to Christensen, also earning a title at Waukegan was Scooter Hill at 160 pounds for Libertyville. The Wildcats finished fourth of 11 teams.

Grant had 38 points, for ninth place, led by Mike Ward's second-place finish at 145.

Plenty of quadrangular and dual meet action await wrestling fans to start 1993. Wheeling is at Libertyville at 10 a.m. Stevenson is at Cary-Grove, and Carmel and Mundelein are at the Hersey quad.

Wauconda has that tourney magic going Bulldogs' way

When it comes to tournaments, you can't beat Wauconda.

At least not after Saturday, when the Bulldogs increased their record to 4-0 in tourneys with a convincing 71-65 win over Stillman Valley. The first-round win in the E.C. Nichols Marengo Holiday tourney gave the Bulldogs a 5-5 record.

"I thought the whole team played well," Wauconda Coach Gary Rajkowski said.

Byron Johnson scored 19 points to lead the way as the Bulldogs gained leads of as many as 14 in the second half. Senior center Sean Balke scored 16 points, Phil Sanew 15, Cory Kazimour had 13, Jeff Schmitz had seven. Reserves Ken Fidler and Bill Ford came in and contributed.

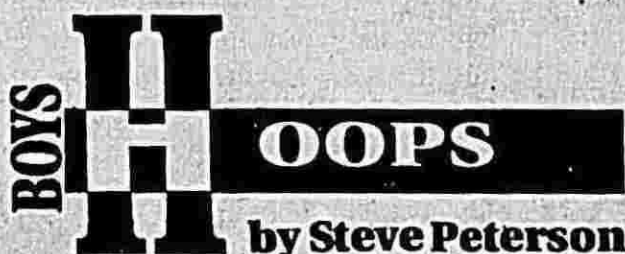

"Tournament play gives us a little more motivation. Today we played as a unit," Johnson said. The Bulldogs won the Huntley Thanksgiving tournament.

That was the key, agreed Rajkowski.

Wauconda had the hot hand at the outset, making eight of its first 12 field goal tries. A bucket by Johnson and two more Johnson free throws gave the Bulldogs a 16-point lead. Stillman Valley scored the final four first quarter points and closed the gap to 20-11.

Wauconda committed four turnovers in the waning moments of the first quarter and the problem carried over into the second, where the Bulldogs lost the ball six times as the Cards trimmed the lead to 31-28.

"We lost our composure but then we regained it. We knew they were a good three-point shooting team and No. 51 (Kyle Johansen) is a good inside player," Rajkowski said.

Wauconda gained a 15-point lead in the third quarter but there was one more run left in the Cards. A three-pointer cut the lead to one. After a key bucket by Schmitz off a nice pass from Sanew put the Bulldogs ahead by three, and a hoop by Kazimour and a Ford free throw upped it to four, 61-57, Stillman Valley missed on two key free throws.

The tourney magic faced a stiff test as Wauconda battled host Marengo the next round.

Day-after Christmas notebook:

What do you tell a team which finds itself losing by 50 points? That's the sad state Johnsborg found itself in en route to a 76-29 loss to Winnebago.

"We are not playing with much emotion. We practice a lot, but we do the right things on the floor. We're looking for leadership. Some guys have tried to step up, but that has put us in a different direction," Johnsborg Coach Jeff Lewiston said.

The loss to the defending tourney champs was the seventh straight for Johnsborg. Jeff Loser led the Skyhawks (2-7) with seven points. Johnsborg probably doesn't remember, but it won its first two games of the year.

You can go home again: it was fun to drop by at one of my old hunting grounds, Marengo. Coach Bill Barry and his staff, assistants Roger Cannon and Rich Brown, were ready with a friendly hello at one of the more pure basketball settings. Not much has changed since Marengo was an assignment in the early 1980s. A coat of paint or two and a new scoreboard are about it. Barry's teams are still winning games with defense, as Marian Central found out in a 62-43 loss...

Best individual showing of the day was by far Cyrus Johnson's 34 point outing in a 67-54 North Chicago (3-6) loss to Maine West at Wheeling...

Lake Zurich Coach Doug Cook was asked the impact of an 8:45 a.m. Saturday start in a 59-38 loss to Lake Park at Wheeling. "Not really, it was pretty close in the first quarter," he said.

Brian Kretchmer and Reid Wiersma, eight and six points, respectively, played well, according to Cook.

The turning point came in the second quarter.

"We went to a man-to-man defense and their man-to-man offense chewed us up," Cook said. Lake Park (6-3) led by 13 at half-time.

The Bears' 8-2 record is nothing to sneeze at. "We played the number four seed (Lake Park) and now we play the number five seed (Walter Lutheran). We feel we are pretty close to being a good team, but we know we have to win a couple of games here," Cook said.

Off-season workouts pay Miller, Mustangs dividends

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

It was a scene familiar to those who stopped by Mundelein High School even occasionally this summer.

"I worked out all week on weights," Thad Miller said.

Miller's efforts paid off as he has developed into a scorer and rebounder for the 6-6 Mundelein Mustangs this season. Miller scored 15 points and ignited the Mustangs to a 56 percent shooting first half as they gained a nine-point lead over highly favored Conant in the championship game of the Jacobs Christmas tournament. The Cougars recovered and outlasted the Mustangs 77-70.

"It took a while to get used to both roles," Miller said.

The Mustangs' Kyle Kessel was named Most Valuable Player for the tournament after scoring 105 points in four games, easily topping last year's tourney record 89.

"We had our chances to win, but we did not execute down the stretch," Kessel said.

Kessel, a flashy 5-10 junior guard, came into the season as the most experienced Mustang. "Being the most experienced player and being the coach's son, I know what he wants," Kessel said.

"Our kids played very well. We came to play. They (Conant) had a lot of size, but we rebounded very well and the kids did a nice job of talking on the floor," Coach Dennis Kessel said. "In the first half, all the calls went our way, but I told the kids in the second half the calls would go there way. You play differently when you have three or four fouls on you," Coach Kessel said.

Miller scored five first-quarter points as the Mustangs fought the Cougars to an 18-18 standstill after one. The Mustangs made a sizzling six-of-10 in the second quarter field goal shooting department, gaining a 37-29 lead on a three-pointer by all-tournament team Matt Brua (19 points). A basket by reserve Ryan Johnson accounted for a nine-point lead at intermission.

The lead grew to 11 on a basket by Miller in the opening minute of the second half, but Conant's Corey Brown (16 points) and Mike Tierney (14 points) gained control of the game while Mundelein suffered from fouls.

Wildwood family recalls exploits of football pioneer

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

There were plenty of football stories being told at the Senf residence in Wildwood of late.

Most centered around one of the true pioneers of Chicago football, Leonard Frantz. Frantz passed away of heart failure Dec. 6, leaving grandson Dave and his sons to carry on his story.

"He was known as Leonard 'Dingbat' Frantz," Senf recalled. "He played quarterback just prior to the Chicago Staleys era and played at Aurora West High, graduating in 1917."

Playing in days before helmets were in vogue or even available, Frantz operated the wing "T" formation, made famous in the the Chicago Bears fight song. You know, "We'll never forget the way you thrilled the nation..."

"He'd gain 10 to 15 yards a crack," Senf said.

The family is a very athletic one.

Dave's father played football and Dave, who can be seen referring a few varsity basketball games this winter, played at Purdue as a QB after starring at Harmony High in Iowa. Dave's son, Mark, played third base for Warren Twp. High School before attending CLC this year.

Overtime

After playing for the Chicago Staleys, which later became the Bears, Frantz went to work at W.A. Schaeffer pen company, where he was employed until his retirement. Senf recalls seeing his 92-year-old grandfather for his 80th birthday.

Grayslake Community High School suffered through an 0-9 football season this fall, missing out on the joy experienced by Richmond-Burton winning the State Class 2A playoffs, or of Wauconda making the class 4A quarterfinals or even the slew of teams in the playoffs or winning records.

But the Rams of 1992 will be remembered for the likes of Billy Guenther. Guenther suffered from Adult Still's Disease, but his presence on the practice field inspired the Rams. He received a plaque for his stick-to-iveness, and the Achievement Through Inspirational Effort award was presented by him to Alex Ortigosa.

"We were looking for some positives in a season where there weren't many positives," Bill Johnson, Rams coach, said.

"What stood out what his desire to play football. What he lacked in natural talent, he made up for in desire," Johnson said.

Guenther's sophomore year, the Rams made the playoffs. "He was one of the best receivers in the program, but because we had the likes of Mark Sneyd and Jack Johnson, we did not throw the ball much," Johnson said.

It was Guenther's junior year when the disease was found.

The honor in the future will be eligible for any Ram athlete to receive...

Congrats to three area football players who played on small-college championship teams.

Joe Rohde, a 5-11, 190 pound junior linebacker, was on the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse team along with Jeremy Richter, a 6-1 240 pound junior defensive end. La Crosse edged Washington and Jefferson of Pa. 16-12 in the Division III Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl. The win was the 200th career win for Coach Roger Haring, who suffered a heart attack earlier in the year. The game was played in Bradenton, Fla.

Jason Skurkay is a 6-1, 205 pound freshman tight end from Grayslake who played for North Dakota State College of Science in a 17-14 win over Harper College, Rhode's former team, in the RC Cola Bowl Championship at the University of Northern Iowa dome in Cedar Falls.

CLC rally attempt falls shy Lancers prepare for league

College of Lake County's men's basketball team finally met a tournament it did not like.

After winning three tournament titles, the Lancers were turned back at the Highland tournament after two losses. CLC fell to 8-5 overall with an 80-77 loss to Sauk Valley after losing to DuPage 90-81 at the Highland Christmas tournament.

CLC rallied from a 17-point deficit but came up short against Sauk Valley in Freeport.

"We were down by one, Mark Goodman drove to the basket but we did not get the call. We fouled them with five seconds left," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said of the Sauk Valley game.

Eddie White had 27 points to lead CLC, which trailed 39-28 at halftime. David Montgomery had 13 points.

Dave Huntington led CLC against DuPage with 19 points and White had 15.

CLC resumes play with a Jan. 2 away game vs. Moraine Valley. The Lancers start Skyway Conference play Jan. 5 at Truman with the first league home game at 7 p.m. against Waubesa.

Warren, SIU set Saluki North clinic

The baseball coaches at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale will present their fourth annual Saluki North clinic at Warren Twp. High School in Gurnee on Jan. 23.

The clinic is open to coaches at all levels for baseball and softball.

For more information, contact Ron Shelton at 662-1400 or 623-2816.

Juniors step to forefront for Carmel, Libertyville

It's nice to win championships at Christmas. The recognition goes up and maybe a regional ranking may be a way to start the new year off on a right foot.

Short of that, finding an underclassmen or two to step forward can also be a big plus. Carmel and Libertyville found that out in a win and a loss, respectively, Monday. For Carmel, it was a 17-point effort from Brian Buckingham which sparked a 64-45 win over Chicago Foreman in the Kankakee tournament. For Libertyville, it was 10 points from Sean Calhoun in a 73-62 loss to Elgin St. Edward at Wheeling.

"It was mostly perimeter shots. He started the game with two three-pointers," Carmel Coach Scott Rosberg said. Buckingham is a 6-1 junior swingman.

Carmel (2-7) led 18-13 after one and 43-23 at half-time. "We shot 23 of 44, 52 percent. I was really happy with that," Rosberg said.

Jermaine Williams, a senior, had 15 points.

"Calhoun had his best game of the year. He came in for Sean Devine, who had foul trouble, and did a good job scoring and rebounding," Libertyville coach Max Sanders said.

The Wildcats (5-6) were led in scoring by 23 points from Matt Heldman and 16 from Jamie Carruthers.

Libertyville led 17-16 after one and 32-26 at half-time but fell victim to a 31-18 third quarter splash by the Green Wave. Doing most of the damage was Aaron Demuth and Brian Harms.

Koski, Panthers adjust, garner third at tourney

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Change must not bother Justin Koski much.

While keeping his touch for that outside shot, the six-foot, one inch Round Lake senior is finding a new role as the Panthers get ready for the Northwest Suburban Conference games which lie ahead.

"Koski has come full circle. He started in the program as a wing man and now he plays post," Round Lake Coach Bob Ward said.

Koski scored 20 points, including the winning free throw with one second left, as the Panthers topped Steinmetz 46-44 to claim third place at the Jacobs tournament.

Round Lake, (10-3 overall) after giving the team a few days off to celebrate the accomplishment and the holiday, resumes NWSC action taking a 5-0 league mark into a Jan. 8 game at Marian Central.

"It was a typical fourth game of the tournament with both teams getting off to a slow start," Ward said of the third-place game.

Ward had praise for his team's post players - Bob Swanson who did not start but came off the bench to score eight points; Koski and Aaron Yazzie. "Our post players did a nice job. I was concerned about their offensive rebounds coming in," Ward said.

Another point of concern was his team's mental state. After a first-round win over McHenry 60-47, the team got pasted by eventual tourney champ Conant by 30 points.

Round Lake, represented on the all-tournament team by Ellenwood, had a huge lead in free-throws, 16-1, eight-for-nine in the fourth quarter.

The Panthers looked as if they may be still feeling the wounds of that 81-51 blowout loss at the hands of Conant in the first quarter against Steinmetz. They missed seven of their first eight shots and had three turnovers.

But a fastbreak basket by Koski and a three-pointer from Ellenwood gave the Panthers some life and an 8-7 lead after one.

Steinmetz opened up a nine-point lead in the second quarter, taking advantage of Panther mistakes.

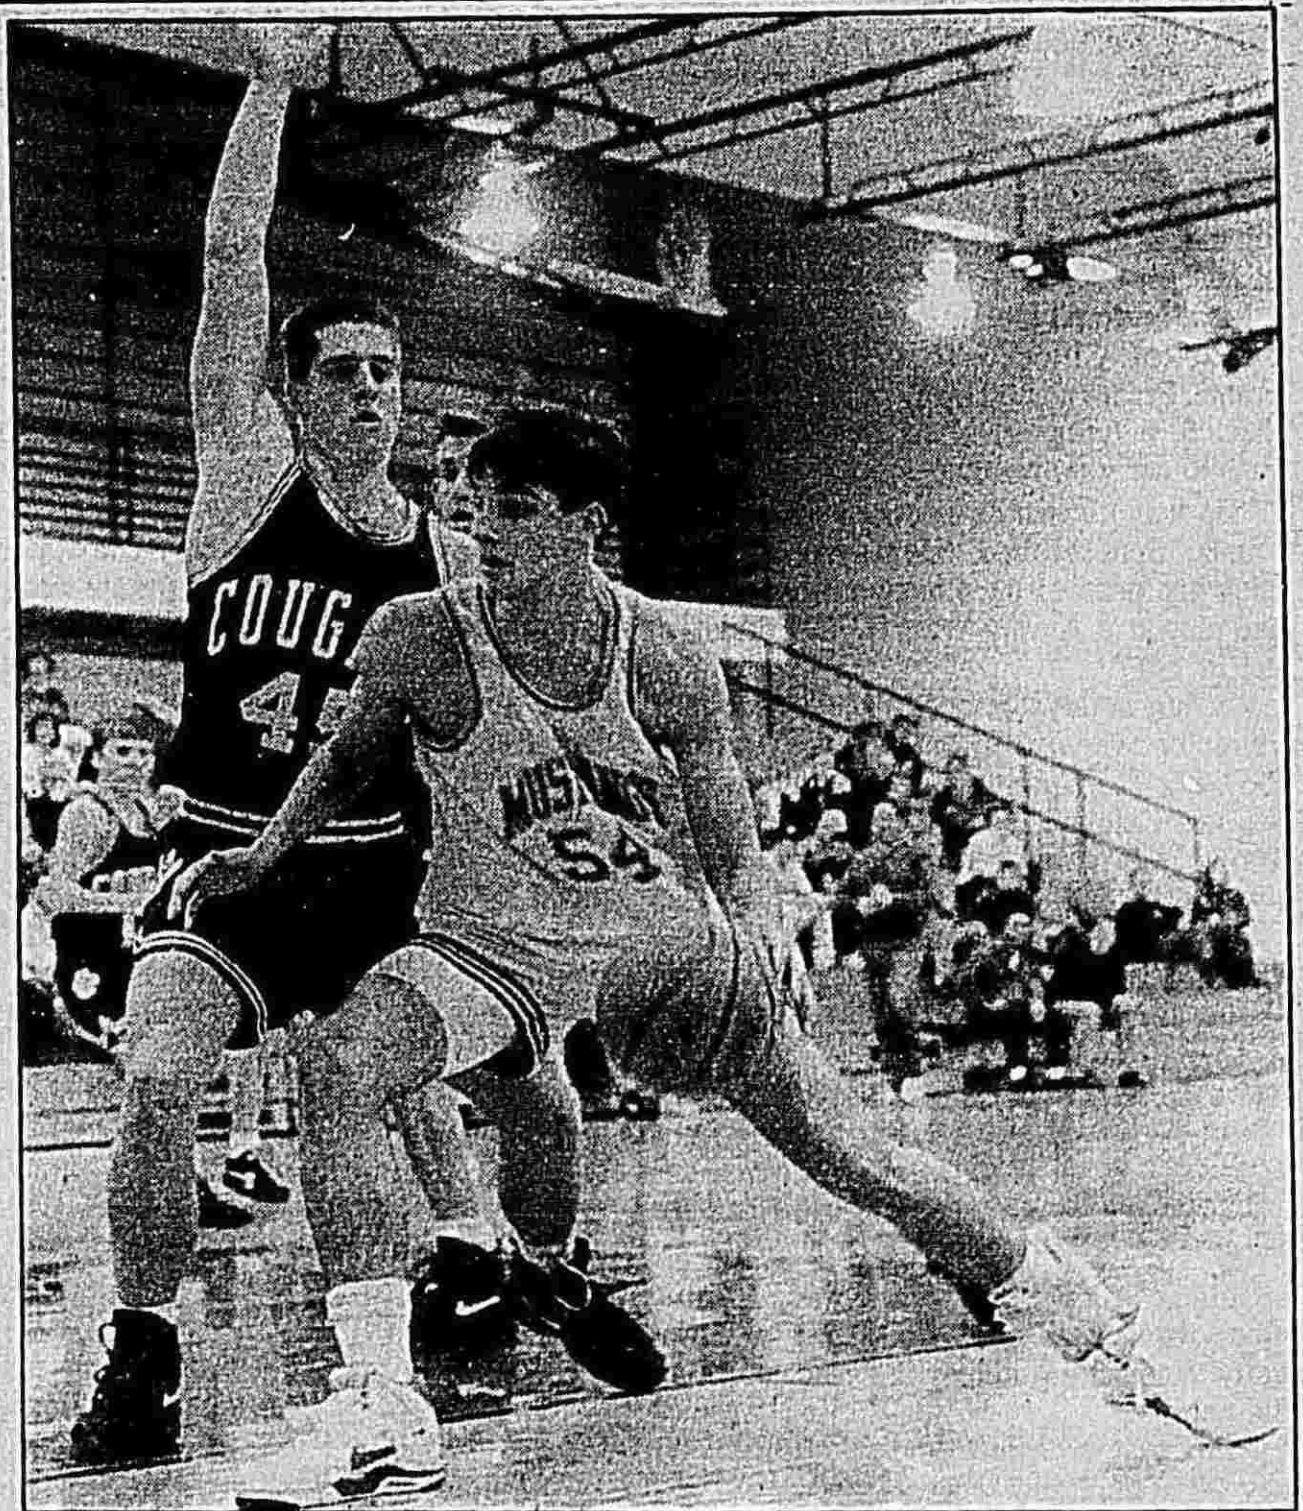

The old strength, free throws, helped get RL back into contention. Two by Yazzie and one by Swanson trimmed the lead to 22-20 at halftime.

The two teams fought to a 32-all tie after three periods, and the Panthers had to rally as Steinmetz scored the first two fourth quarter buckets.

Koski drove to the basket with 27 seconds left, but Swanson was right there for a put-back and a 44-44 tie. Swanson was fouled and hit the free-throw.

In another game at Jacobs, Grant lost its fourth straight at the tourney, dropping a 75-63 loss to Cary-Grove. The Bulldogs (8-7 overall) were led by Tim Culotta's 20 points and 18 from Mike Ingram. No Bulldogs were selected all-tourney.

Grant is 4-1 in league play, but faces another non-league test at Antioch Jan. 5 before hosting Johnsbury Jan. 8.

Seeking two more

MHS girls find their niche, LZ claims crown at Niles

Mundelein High School's girls basketball team found an opponent more equal to its height when the Mustangs battled host Niles North in a Christmas tournament.

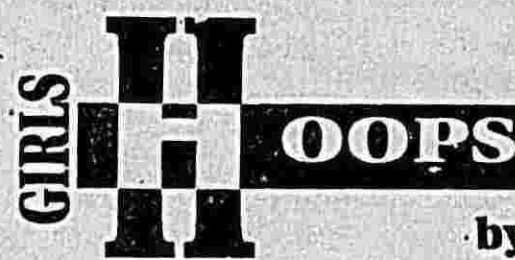

The Mustangs prevailed 55-45, but then fell to Maine South 53-35 in the consolation final.

"We were more competitive size-wise against Niles North. Maine South and Lake Tech were just too tall for us," Coach Rick Foss said.

Lake Zurich (8-5) won the tourney with a 50-49 win over Marrillac. Nicole Vasey led the way with 16 points with Meghan Heinrich adding 13.

The Mustangs (5-9), were

by Steve Peterson

led in the win by sophomore Lindsay Prezell. Mundelein's leading scorer, at 15.4, points a game, scored 21 against the Vikings.

Cassey Struggles also had a good tournament, Foss said, highlighted by an 11-point outing against the Vikings. Stacy Scholz, a senior, had 11 points in the loss to Maine West.

The second quarter was the key against Niles North. "We went on a 15-4 run and that put the game away," Foss said.

Mundelein (5-9) hosts Antioch Jan. 9 in a 2:30 p.m. NSC game.

Libertyville dropped a 55-50 decision to Glenbrook

North at Hersey. Kelly Karl led the way with 19 points.

Round Lake netted a third-place finish at Woodstock as the Panthers downed the Blue Streaks 62-54. Joy King led the way with 17 points. Round Lake, unbeaten in Northwest Suburban Conference play, is at Johnsbury Jan. 5.

Carmel girls hope payback comes soon against Bulldogs

The best news about losing nearly a 19 point lead in the fourth quarter for Carmel girls basketball team?

Coach Scott Green will not have to play back key moments of the 50-49 upset at the hands of the Bulldogs as the two teams prepare for a Jan. 5 non-conference clash. The Corsairs were sent regrouping following the first-round loss in the St. Viator Snowflake Classic.

"I really can't put my finger on it. They pressed most of the game, but in the fourth quarter they got a lot of three-on-one and two-on-one fastbreaks and converted on them. In the first half, they were not converting," Carmel Coach Scott Green said.

The Corsairs (6-3), playing in their first game in several days, came in and switched defenses from a zone to a man-to-man. That was effective in building up a 10-point half-time lead and 43-23 margin in the third quarter. Waukegan blitzed the Corsairs with a 26-6 fourth quarter run.

Natalie Gambit led the Corsairs with 14 points, most coming in the first half. Kathy Bregenzer had 12 points.

The chief thorn in the side of Carmel was Tomika Jones, who had 20 points. "For 5-11, she is very quick. She is the toughest big girl we have had to face so far," Green said.

"This is the first time we have had a big lead and have had someone come back. We were unsure of ourselves and what we wanted to do," Green said. Stevenson enjoyed a better start at the St. Viator tournament. The Patriots, behind 20 points from Danielle Mall and 15 from Tauja Catchings, thumped Argo 55-42. A 15-5 Stevenson third quarter run broke open a close game for the 10-3 Pats.

Mundelein

Kyle Kessel then went over the 100-point mark for the tourney with a three-pointer and two free-throws closed the lead to two.

"But we could never get over the hump," Coach Kessel said.

Mundelein, which hosts Warren Jan. 8 when North Suburban Conference play resumes, had its fate sealed as Conant made four free throws in the final 30 seconds.

The Mustangs are hoping to add some strength in the inside game when 6-5 Brian McMahon, a transfer from Carmel, makes his debut, possibly against Warren or Jan. 9 against Grayslake.

WHS grad earns letter at AU

Wauconda High graduate Nathan Schroeder earned his second letter for the Augustana football team this fall.

Football awards were presented by Coach Bob Reade to members of the Augustana team, which was 6-3, 6-1 in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin.

Schroeder, a 6-0, 230 pound defensive tackle, started in all nine games. He had 16 solo tackles, 24 assists for a total of 40. He had two quarterback sacks, five tackles for losses and two fumble recoveries.

Schroeder is a sophomore.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Plan on a homey holiday this week. You're in the mood to visit, chat and get together with a few friends. You may need the peace and quiet to evaluate the past, present and future. And it appears you start to live the future early on.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) You may need to do some fiscal re-evaluation before you plunge into another round of champagne popping and holiday parties. You roll into the New Year's full of talk and sharing, once more getting to know another.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) You're one of the more dynamic creatures of the zodiac this week. However, watch just how wild and woolly you become on New Year's, because the monetary costs could be very, very high. Don't go too far from home this weekend.

Wolfson is top seller of Girl Scout cookies

Congratulations were awarded to Moraine Girl Scout Council's top 10 cookie sellers. Brownie Girl Scout Beth Wolfson of Northbrook dominated the list with 734 boxes sold.

Wolfson was followed by Elizabeth Proctor of Libertyville, Melissa Arof and Jessica Levin of Deerfield, Megan Byerly of Long Grove, Karen Gauger of Highland Park, Rebekka Huberty of Northbrook, Jennifer Lutz of Buffalo Grove, Jenny Pickell of Hawthorn Woods and Maggie Dolan of Mundelein.

All the top sellers agreed that the real secret to selling lots and lots of cookies is to keep on trying. Selling cookies helped girls learn to set goals, plans sales strategies, meet the public and keep accurate records.

Girl Scout troops will continue the cookie sale at booths throughout the northern suburbs during the Jan. 8 and

Jan. 15 weekends. Proceeds from the sale help provide educational Girl Scout programs and activities for the 4,000 girls, ages 6 to 17, who are a part of Moraine Girl Scout Council.

Sara is a sweetheart

Sara is a young, female, black and white medium size spaniel mix. Just a year old, Sara still has a lot of puppy-like playfulness and enthusiasm. A pretty dog, Sara has a thick, soft, luxurious, wavy black coat that will shed little and require only minimal weekly brushing. Sara was abandoned one April morning, this past spring. She was found sitting sadly, tied to our front gate. Sara has a lively, affectionate nature, and when you speak to her or pet her, she wiggles all over with joyful responsiveness. Sara has a gentle heart that will fill your home with love.

Sara can be found in Cage No. 5. The cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, leash, follow-up care, first shots and more.

Stomper, who was featured Dec. 11, has been adopted.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd. in Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a week. Call 945-0235 for further information.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: In the beginning of 1991 I accepted a position as a secretary with the (name withheld) company. It was known then, that although I took a slight pay cut to work for this company one of the benefits that was explained to me was a Christmas bonus at year end that would more than compensate for the difference in my salary. These bonuses, according to co-workers, has been substantial. Imagine my surprise when a meeting was held to announce that due to economic conditions, for the first time in many years, there would be no bonuses. I was floored! Of course I am reluctant to go to personnel for fear I'll start trouble, but how can a company promise you one thing then do another? C.L.-Lake Villa

A: Dear C.L. You might want to be aware that your year end bonus may very well be based upon a percentage of profit. Your company, as well as many in 1992, fell into economic recession. The good news is, many companies are predicting a strong recovery for 1993. Imagine how difficult it must have been for your employer to have to stand up and make the announcement. I'm sure that it was a task he would just as soon have foregone. I would just accept it and not jump ship. It will be those dedicated, loyal and understanding employees that will prosper when the situation turns itself around. A good employer doesn't forget.

Q: Dear...Search: I would like to get a head start on compiling my tax information since I'm sure I have a refund coming to me this year. I don't want to ask my employer for it, but in order to plan ahead, is there a certain deadline that an employer has for releasing these to his employees? A.G. Mundelein

A: Dear A.G., Employers must have W-2 forms released by the end of January. Some employers are known to hand these out and many mail them out. If you, or anyone you know has not received your W-2 by the end on January...ask your employer. It may have gotten lost in the mail, and issuing a duplicate should not be too much trouble. Note: Always be sure that if you have had a change of address that you make your employer aware of it as soon as possible.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030
